LOWDEN WILL SOUND OFF IN G.O.P. CAMPAIGN

Former Governor of Illinois, Noted Public Man, Appears in Bismarck

OTHER CAMPAIGN NOTES

Halverson Waging Vigorous Campaign With Many Independents Confident

Honorable Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, former Governor of that state, will sound the keynote of the Republican national campaign in this section of North Dakota, in an address at the Bismarck Auditorium at 8 p. m. Tuesday night, October 21.

Mr. Lowden, who is making a tour of the Northwest and the Pacific Coast, will make but two stops in North Dakota, at Bismarck and Jamestown. He will arrive here tomorrow morning in a special car attached to Northern Pacific train No. 1 and will leave at 10:46 at night for Montana. The meeting will be held promptly at the Auditorium.

Mr. Lowden was governor of Illinois and is the biggest speaker sent into North Dakota by the Republican national committee. He was one of the leading candidates for the nomination for President in 1920 and last summer the Republican national convention nominated him for vice-president, which he declined because of the work it was doing among the farmers in connection with the agricultural organizations of the country.

Mr. Lowden made a great record as Governor of Illinois, particularly in reorganizing the system of government. More than 130 state departments, bureaus and commissions were consolidated into nine departments with a director at the head of each. The budget system was adopted, a finance code was passed and remarkable economies were effected in government.

Governor Lowden voluntarily retired at the end of four years, and since that time has been a notable figure in public life.

A rousing meeting is expected by the Coolidge-Dawson forces, who declare voters of this section of the state have an exceptional opportunity to hear a noted speaker.

The fusion campaign in the state is proceeding apace, with the independents laying great stress on the necessity of getting out a full vote in the November election. Independent forces, somewhat apathetic at the commencement of the campaign, declare there has been a remarkable awakening of interest in the state and that Mr. Halverson has made great strides in the campaign. His election is predicted by many independents if a full vote responds.

Mr. Halverson recently has denounced government ownership as futile, but promises a fair trial for the mill and elevator project as long as the voters want it and the taxpayers are willing. He declared against the proposed 25 percent tax reduction bill before the voters.

The Nonpartisan League forces are also very active in the state, and are conducting a big speaking campaign. Senator E. F. Ladd is filling dates with Gerald Nye in the second Congressional District. U. S. Senator Lynn Frazier will campaign in the state. Congressman Sinclair is out, and A. G. Sorlie, candidate for Governor, has been billed for a number of talks.

E. T. Burke of Bismarck, who has been in several communities in this section of the state, particularly in German communities, declared that things are satisfactory with the Coolidge campaign. He asserted that he found a surprising number of farmers and others who are for Coolidge, and declared that the LaFollette sentiment is greatly overrated in North Dakota. Coolidge, he believes, will carry the state with a surprisingly large vote.

ELKS PLAN INITIATION

"North Soo Night" To Be Observed in Bismarck

The lodge clubrooms have been opened during the summer but with winter approaching are being used more than ever, and they are expected to be the headquarters of the visiting Elks on their visits to Bismarck.

A new award was announced today by the committee. The President Life Insurance Company will supplement the Hanna sweetstakes cup with a silver cup to go to the grower of the highest scoring corn in the state. It must be won twice in succession to be retained permanently. The Hanna cup, won last year by Sargent county when her exhibitors scored the most points in the show, has been returned by that county. This cup must be won three times in succession by a county to be retained permanently.

Reports to the corn show officials indicate that farmers in all parts of the state are selecting corn for entrance into the show at this time. It is especially urged upon growers that they make their selections early.

HIGH SCHOOL'S PUBLICATION GIVEN HONORS

Both "Pep" and "Prairie Breezes" Again Win Signal Honors at Grand Forks

KEEN COMPETITION

Bismarck High School's publications again have a splendid record. The awards made at the Northern Inter-School Press Association meeting in Grand Forks over the weekend gave the following honors to Bismarck High publications: Best all-around publication, "Pep," Bismarck, second place. Best high school newspaper in North Dakota, "Pep," Bismarck, first annuals, "Prairie Breezes," Bismarck, second place.

"Pep" was noted out in the judging for the honor of the best all-around publication by Central High School News, Minneapolis, and in the contest the Bismarck publication had to contend with papers from scores of high schools over the Northwest published in cities many times the size of Bismarck. "Pep" had no difficulty at all in winning the honor of the best high school newspaper in North Dakota.

In the contest on annuals, Bismarck again was noted out by a publication in a city many times the size of Bismarck. "The Centinel" of Minneapolis, winning first, and "Prairie Breezes" of Bismarck, winning second place.

"Prairie" of Dickinson was third in the judging on the best all-around newspaper in high schools over 200. An indication of the competition the local school met is shown in the list of "distinguished" awards, above which the local publications were listed. The "distinguished" awards included publications from St. Cloud, Minnesota; Fargo and Grand Forks, N. D.; Sioux Falls, South Dakota; Billings, Montana; Jamestown and Valley City.

Dorothy Birdzell represented "Prairie Breezes" and Everett O'Neil represented "Pep" at the Grand Forks meeting. Clara Berg, representing Dickinson High School, was elected president of the press association.

Both of the Bismarck publications are entirely the work of the students of the local high school, and both publications are printed in the plant of the Bismarck Tribune Company.

TWO AUTOS IN COLLISION; BOTH BADLY SMASHED

Two automobiles collided at Seventh and Broadway about 9:15 o'clock last night, with considerable damage resulting to each of them.

A Ford coupe, driven by Elaine Rowman, going east on Broadway, lost both wheels on the left side, the front fender was marked and the front spring broken.

An Oakland owned by L. G. Stocks, going south on Seventh, recorded a bent front axle on the right side, probably bent on striking a lamp post, fender ripped in two and bumper broken.

TIGHTENING OF FIRE LAWS IN STATE URGED

Fire Marshal Reade, in Report, Asks Laws Against Over-Insurance

ALSO ON SCHOOLS

Would Forbid Approval of Plans That Do Not Comply With Fire Hazard Rules

Enactment of laws further tightening the lines against fire loss in North Dakota are urged by H. L. Reade, state fire marshal, in his biennial report.

Two changes especially are urged by the fire marshal. He wants legislation to combat the evil of over-insurance and the law made plain prohibiting the state superintendent of public instruction from approving plans for school buildings that do not comply with the fire laws of this state.

"I find that one of the great causes for fire losses in this state is from over-insurance," Mr. Reade said in his report. "While in most cases, when we are called upon to investigate a fire loss, no evidence can be found to charge any person with the actual burning, yet the great motive for the loss is invariably found in over-insurance. This condition should not exist and I ask that legislation be requested to take this matter into consideration and pass such laws as will eliminate the practice of over-insurance. This can and should be done and would be the means of reducing fire losses in this state."

With regard to the approval of new school buildings which do not comply with the state laws Mr. Reade said:

"The laws requiring that the state superintendent approve all plans for school buildings in this state should be amended and made clear that no plans or part of any school buildings erected in this state can be approved unless they comply with the laws of the state in each and every particular and no approval of plans can be given to any part and, exempting some part that does not comply with the law requirements."

The practice, Mr. Reade said, is for the state department of education to approve plans with the notations "except as to fire escapes, except as to width of doors," etc.

"There is conflict as to the interpretation of the law now," he said. "I want it made plain so that plans cannot be approved for buildings that do not comply to the rule of eliminating fire hazards and the laws. The plans for the Roosevelt and Kimball schools in Bismarck were approved by the state department of education when the law provides that there must be fire escapes on these buildings. They have no fire escapes."

Other changes urged to strengthen the fire marshal's office include: More funds to carry on the work of investigation of suspicious fires, if not two, more deputy fire marshals, one to be an attorney; giving fire marshal right to name his deputies; penalty for non-compliance with fire drill law; closer supervision of theaters and motion picture houses; insurance protection for volunteer fireman; direct tax upon every line of insurance doing business in the state over and above the two percent now paid to cities and villages having an organized fire department, to defray the expense of the state fire marshal's office and also a portion of the fund to be made a relief or pension fund for volunteer firemen.

BORAH PROBE CONTINUES IN WASHINGTON

Committee to Hear More Witnesses on Campaign Funds in National Capital

BUTLER'S STATEMENT

Charges LaFollette Leaders Decided to Raise $500,000 in Wisconsin Alone

Chicago, Oct. 20.—William E. Borah, chairman, and the other members of the special Senate committee investigating campaign contributions and expenditures today were en route to Washington after having started their initial inquiry here.

Tomorrow in the Senate office building the committee will resume its investigation of reports that a huge Republican slush fund is being raised for use in doubtful states although the Democratic national collections and expenditures and LaFollette expenditures will be brought into the inquiry.

The committee will have as fresh material the statement of William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, that 100 LaFollette leaders in Milwaukee decided to raise $500,000 in that state alone to further the presidential candidacy of the Wisconsin Senator whom and the assertion in Madison last night of Eric Onstad, LaFollette leader, that Wisconsin had contributed only $10,000.

Mr. Onstad said there have been an announcement that such a fund would be raised "but it was more enthusiastic than actual facts justified."

Upon resuming tomorrow at Washington the committee will center its attention upon the LaFollette charges of a Republican slush fund. Subpoenas have been issued for Joseph R. Grundy, Bristol, Pennsylvania, manufacturer and chairman of the ways and means committee of the Republican national committee; E. T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia; Nathan T. Folwell, treasurer of the Manufacturers' Club of Philadelphia, and other witnesses from Philadelphia and Washington.

Both of Bismarck's Institutions are "Approved" by National Organization

HELD SIGNAL HONOR

Bismarck Has Two of Five Hospitals in North Dakota Winning Rating

Bismarck's hospitals again have won national recognition. The annual announcement of the American College of Surgeons, of approved hospitals for the year 1924, lists the Bismarck Evangelical Deaconess Hospital and the St. Alexius Hospital of Bismarck as "approved hospitals" of 100 or more beds.

The local hospitals have won the honor each year for several years, a new inspection being made each year. But five North Dakota hospitals of 100 beds or more are given the honor, two of them being in Bismarck, two in Fargo and one in Grand Forks. Two other North Dakota hospitals, of 50 to 100 beds capacity, also are approved, these being St. Joseph's Hospital at Minot and St. Michael's Hospital, Grand Forks.

The total number of hospitals surveyed in North Dakota was 12 of which seven, or 58.3 percent, met the requirements. The Minot hospital is approved with the condition indicating "that certain hospitals have accepted the requirements which results in the best scientific care of the patient, but are not, for lack of time or other acceptable reasons, carrying them out to the fullest extent."

The announcement also is to the effect that the number of hospitals of 100 beds or over surveyed in the United States is 901, of which 841 were approved.

Statement On Them

The statement of the American College of Surgeons, received by The Tribune today, says in part:

"The annual official announcement of Approved Hospitals in the United States and Canada was made this morning at the Hospital Conference of the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons, New York, by Franklin H. Martin, M. D., Director General.

"The official list of hospitals meeting the minimum requirements of the American College of Surgeons presents the results of the seventh survey of hospitals of 100 beds and over, the third survey of hospitals of 50 to 100 beds, and the preliminary survey of hospitals of 35-50 beds, making a total of 2386 hospitals surveyed, of which 1416 or 59 per cent meet the requirements."

"The Director General in presenting the report said in part: The program of the American College of Surgeons is definite, its requirements are reasonable, its methods of presentation are acceptable. The personal visits and the impartial manner in making the report appeals to the hospital as an unprejudiced effort to arrive at facts. The movement is now its own propagandist for it has proven its worth. The requirements are universally acceptable for they aim at focusing the hospitals attention directly on the care of the patient. This surely means much to the 12,000,000 patients passing through the hospitals of the United States and Canada annually."

Based On Findings

"This report is based on the findings of a detailed survey made through personal investigation, carried on by representatives from the college trained and qualified to do the work. A corps of such representatives cover the United States and Canada annually and find the facts about each of these hospitals as to their organization, supervision, facilities, procedures, and particularly as to how they control and check up on the work of the institution."

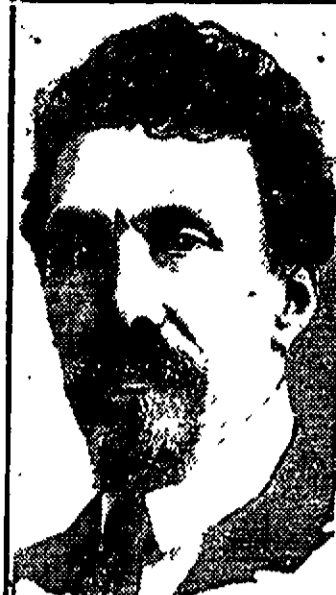

"This movement, said Dr. M. T. MacEachern, Director of Hospital Activities, American College of Surgeons, aims directly at the elimination of deficiencies in hospital service to the patient and the establishing of closer supervision and check up on the work of the institution. It has been rapid in its acceptance and accomplishment, because of the wholehearted co-operation of the hospital people and public generally, of the United States and Canada."

Sue To Collect Store Notes

London, N. D., Oct. 20.—Many law suits growing out of notes given for consumers' stores at Hazleton and Strasburg during the Towleley era are in the courts here. The notes with accrued interest now are at $150, and suits have been started to force collection. The defense of misrepresentation cannot be advanced, it is said, because the notes are now in the hands of innocent purchasers. Sixty-six inch law suits have been started. The stores failed.

STANDARD OIL IN DEFENSE OF ITS PRACTICES

Declares That Contracts Complain of by U. S. Ended Six Years Ago

HOLDS ACTIONS LEGAL

Asserts That Company Has Endeavored to Obey Laws of United States

Chicago, Oct. 20.—By the A. P. —Many of the contracts mentioned by the government in its suit started last June under the Sherman act against 50 oil companies, expired long before the suit was filed, the Standard Oil Company set up today in its answer.

The Texas Company recently filed a general denial of the charges. The licensing of one company to use the license of another was the result of many patents, some of which overlapped others, so that some of the companies were threatened with infringement suits, according to the answer, to obviate this situation the answer set forth it was agreed to adjust these controversies for the use of "cracking" patents by licensing the companies.

Pooling Agreements

These so-called pooling agreements were not combinations in restraint of trade or commerce among the states or foreign nations, as charged by the government, the answer asserted, but on the contrary the Standard Oil Company of Indiana "has endeavored to and has observed in letter and spirit the laws of the United States of Indiana."

The defendant company, according to the answer, owned 22 valid patents for the "cracking" process. Early in its experience in licensing other companies to use its patents, the answer said, there were restrictive clauses in the contracts, as advised by its legal counsel for the protection of its business but that "all contracts containing such restrictive provisions about which the government complained, expired more than six years before the commencement of this suit, the practice of placing any restriction whatever upon licenses had been abandoned."

Within Limitations

Its licenses now, the company contended, "are wholly free of limitations as to quantity of production, place of sale or price."

In 1923 when domestic production of gasoline reached seven and one-half billion gallons, 50 per cent of it was what was known as "straight run" gasoline and not produced by the "cracking" methods as patented.

"Straight run" gasoline, it explained, is produced by the use of heat and stills.

Indian Lands Sell Well With Good Farm Crops

Fl. Yates, N. D., Oct. 20.—A good indication of the better times resulting from this year's crop is seen in the fact that there were 16 tracts of land sold Friday at the Indian land sale for October. In all 18 bids were received on 3,420 acres of land. Six of the tracts sold were in North Dakota and 16 in South Dakota. Of the six sold in North Dakota, W. H. Ordway was the successful bidder on four. This is the best land sale for any month in the last three years. It is expected that a large amount of this non-competent and inherited Indian land will be sold before spring.

"Pep" was noted out in the judging for the honor of the best all around publication by Central High School News, Minneapolis, and in the contest the Bismarck publication had to contend with papers from scores of high schools over the Northwest published in cities many times the size of Bismarck.

"Pep" had no difficulty at all in winning the honor of the best high school newspaper in North Dakota.

In the contest on annuals, Bismarck again was noted out by a publication in a city many times the size of Bismarck, "The Centralian" of Minneapolis winning first and "Prairie Breezes" of Bismarck winning second place.

"Cruisers" of Dickinson was third in the judging on the best all around newspaper in high schools over 200. An indication of the competition the local school met is shown in the list of "distinguished class awards" above which the local publications were listed. The "distinguished class awards" included publications from St. Cloud, Minn.; Fargo and Grand Forks, N. D.; Sioux Falls, South Dakota; Billings, Montana; Jamestown and Valley City.

Dorothy Birdzell represented "Prairie Breezes" and Everett O'Neill represented "Pep" at the Grand Forks meeting. Clara Berg, representing Dickinson High School, was elected president of the press association.

Both of the Bismarck publications are entirely the work of the students of the local high school, and both publications are printed in the plant of the Bismarck Tribune Company.

TWO AUTOS IN COLLISION; BOTH BADLY SMASHED

Two automobiles collided at Seventh and Broadway about 9:15 o'clock last night, with considerable damage resulting to each of them.

A Ford coupe, driven by Elaine Rowman, going east on Broadway, lost both wheels on the left side, the front fender was marked and the front spring broken.

An Oakland owned by L. G. Stocks, going south on Seventh, recorded a bent front axle on the right side, probably bent on striking a lamp post, fender ripped in two and bumper broken.

TIGHTENING OF FIRE LAWS IN STATE URGED

Fire Marshal Reade, in Report, Asks Laws Against Over-Insurance

ALSO ON SCHOOLS

Would Forbid Approval of Plans That Do Not Comply With Fire Hazard Rules

Enactment of laws further tightening the lines against fire loss in North Dakota are urged by H. L. Reade, state fire marshal, in his biennial report.

Two changes especially are urged by the fire marshal. He wants legislation to combat the evil of over-insurance and the law made plain prohibiting the state superintendent of public instruction from approving plans for school buildings that do not comply with the fire laws of the state.

"I find that one of the great causes for fire losses in this state is from over-insurance," Mr. Reade said in his report. "While in most cases, when we are called upon to investigate a fire loss, no evidence can be found to charge any person with the actual burning, yet the great loss is invariably found inasmuch as the property is grossly over-insured. This condition should not exist and I ask that the Legislature be requested to take this matter into consideration and pass such laws as will eliminate the practice of over-insurance. This can and should be done and would be the means of reducing fire losses in this state."

With regard to the approval of new school buildings which do not comply with the state laws Mr. Reade said:

"The laws requiring that the state superintendent approve all plans for school buildings in this state should be amended and made clear that no plans or part of any school buildings erected in this state can be approved unless they comply with the laws of the state in each and every particular and no approval of plans can be given to any part and exempting some part that does not comply with the law requirements."

The practice, Mr. Reade said, is for the state department of education to approve plans with the notations "except as to fire escapes, except as to width of doors," etc.

"There is conflict as to the interpretation of the law now," he said. "I want it made plain so that plans cannot be approved for buildings that do not comply to the rules for eliminating fire hazards and the laws. The plans for the Roosevelt and Richholt schools in Bismarck were approved by the state department of education when the law provides that there must be fire escapes on these buildings. They have no fire escapes."

Other changes urged to strengthen the fire marshal's office include: More funds to carry on the work of investigation of suspicious fires; one, if not two, more deputy fire marshals, one to be an attorney; giving fire marshal right to name his deputies; penalty for non-compliance with fire drill law; closer supervision of theaters and motion picture houses; insurance protection for volunteer fireman, direct tax upon every line of insurance doing business in the state and above and two percent now paid to cities and villages having an organized fire department, to defray the expense of the state fire marshal's office and also a portion of the fund to be made a relief or pension fund for volunteer firemen.

BORAH PROBE CONTINUES IN WASHINGTON

Committee to Hear More Witnesses on Campaign Funds in National Capital

BUTLER'S STATEMENT

Charges LaFollette Leaders Decided to Raise $500,000 in Wisconsin Alone

Chicago, Oct. 20.—William E. Borah, chairman, and the other members of the special Senate committee investigating campaign contributions and expenditures today were en route to Washington after having started their initial inquiry here.

The committee will resume its investigation of reports that a huge Republican slush fund is being raised for use in doubtful national elections and the Democratic national collections and expenditures and LaFollette expenditures will be brought into the inquiry.

The committee will have as fresh material the statement of William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, that 100 LaFollette leaders in Milwaukee decided to raise $500,000 in that state alone to further the presidential candidacy of the Wisconsin Senator alone and the assertion in Madison last night of Eric Onstad, LaFollette leader, that Wisconsin had contributed only $40,000.

Mr. Onstad said there have been an announcement that such a fund would be raised "but it was more enthusiastic than actual facts justified."

Upon resuming tomorrow at Washington the committee will center its attention upon the LaFollette charges of a Republican slush fund. Subpoenas have been issued for Joseph R. Grundy, Bristol, Pennsylvania, manufacturer and chairman of the ways and means committee of the Republican national committee; E. T. Stutesbury of Philadelphia, Nathan T. Folwell, treasurer of the Manufacturers' Club of Philadelphia, and other witnesses from Philadelphia and Washington.

ASKS INQUIRY

Chicago, Oct. 20.—William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican National committee made the following statement:

"Since the Senatorial Investigation committee has decided to continue hearings into campaign funds I want to say once more that the Republican National committee willingly co-operates in producing such information as is desired. We hope that the committee will go into the (Continued on page 2)

ZR-3 MAIL COMES HERE

Local Citizens Receive Air Mail Card From Nephew

William Laist is the first Bismarck citizen to receive a letter from Germany by air mail.

Mr. Laist received a post card which was carried across the Atlantic on the ZR-3 on its historic trip last week. The post card reached Bismarck late Friday night and was delivered Saturday morning. The post card traveled from Germany in five days, having left there on Sunday morning, October 12, reached Lakehurst, N. J., on the ZR-3 and was forwarded on to Bismarck by train.

The post card was from Oscar Guggenbuhler of Karlsruhe, Baden, Germany, a nephew of Mr. Laist. The postcard was stamped "By air mail ZR-3."

"Best regards from mother, me and sisters," the post card read. "The first trip over the water and I hope you get same. Letter later."

Mr. Laist was unable to distinguish the amount of postage required.

HELD SIGNAL HONOR

Bismarck Has Two of Five Hospitals in North Dakota Winning Rating

Bismarck's hospitals again have won national recognition. The annual announcement of the American College of Surgeons, of approved hospitals for the year 1924, lists the Bismarck Evangelical Deaconess Hospital and the St. Alexis Hospital of Bismarck as "approved hospitals" of 100 or more beds.

The local hospitals have won the honor each year for several years, a new inspection being made each year. But five North Dakota hospitals of 100 beds or more are given the honor, two of them being in Bismarck, two in Fargo and one in Grand Forks. Two other North Dakota hospitals, of 50 to 100 beds capacity, also are approved, these being St. Joseph's Hospital at Minot and St. Michael's Hospital, Grand Forks.

The total number of hospitals surveyed in North Dakota was 12 of which seven, or 58.3 percent, met the requirements. The Minot hospital is approved with the condition indicating "that certain hospitals have accepted the requirements which result in the best scientific care of the patient, but are not, for lack of time or other acceptable reasons, carrying them out to the fullest extent."

The announcement also is to the effect that the number of hospitals of 100 beds or over surveyed in the United States is 961, of which 831 were approved.

Statement On Them

The statement of the American College of Surgeons, received by The Tribune today, says in part:

"The annual official announcement of Approval Hospitals in the United States and Canada was made this morning at the Hospital Conference of the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons, New York, by Franklin H. Martin, M. D., Director General.

"The official list of hospitals meeting the minimum requirements of the American College of Surgeons presents the results of the seventh survey of hospitals of 100 beds and over, the third survey of hospitals of 50-100 beds, and the preliminary survey of hospitals of 35-50 beds, making a total of 2366 hospitals surveyed, of which 1416 or 59 per cent met the requirements."

"The Director General in presenting the report said in part: The program of the American College of Surgeons is definite, its requirements are reasonable; its methods of presentation are acceptable. The personal visits and the impartial manner in making the report appeals to the hospital as an unprejudiced effort to arrive at facts. The movement is now its own propagandist for it has proven its worth. The requirements are universally acceptable for they aim at focusing the hospitals attention directly on the care of the patient. This surely means much to the 12,000,000 patients passing through the hospitals of the United States and Canada annually."

Based On Findings

"This report is based on the findings of a detailed survey made through personal investigation, carried on by representatives from the College trained and qualified to do the work. A corps of such representatives cover the United States and Canada annually and find the facts about each of these hospitals as to their organization, supervision, facilities, procedures, and particularly as to how they control and check up on the work of the institution."

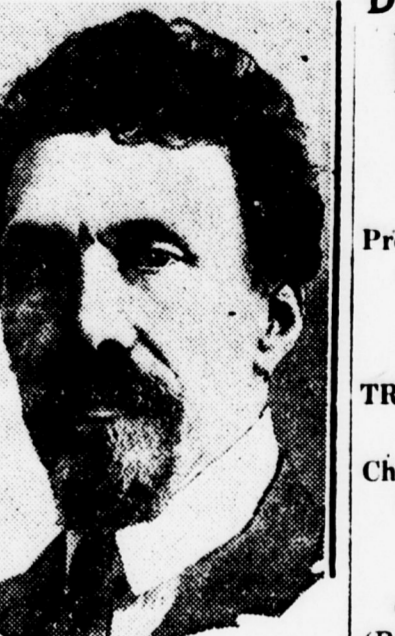

This movement, said Dr. M. T. McEachern, Director of Hospital Activities, American College of Surgeons, aims directly at the elimination of deficiencies in hospital services to the patient and the establishing of closer supervision and check-up on the work of the institution. It has been rapid in its acceptance and accomplishment, because of the whole-hearted co-operation of the hospital people and public generally, of the United States and Canada."

Sue To Collect Store Notes

Linton, N. D., Oct. 20.—Many law suits growing out of notes given for consumers stores at Hazelton and Strasburg during the Townley era are in the courts here. The notes with accrued interest now are over $150, and suits have been started to force collection. The defense of misrepresentation cannot be advanced, it is said, because the notes are now in the hands of innocent purchasers. Sixty-six inch law suits have been started. The stores failed.

STANDARD OIL IN DEFENSE OF ITS PRACTICES

Declares That Contracts Complain of by U. S. Ended Six Years Ago

HOLDS ACTIONS LEGAL

Asserts That Company Has Endeavored to Obey Laws of United States

Chicago, Oct. 20.—(By the A. P.)—Many of the contracts mentioned by the government in its suit started last June under the Sherman act against 50 oil companies, expired long before the suit was filed, the Standard Oil Company set up today in its answer.

The Texas Company recently filed a general denial of the charges.

The licensing of one company to use the license of another was the result of many patents, some of which overlapped others so that some of the companies were threatened with each other with infringement suits, according to the answer. To obviate this situation the answer set forth it was agreed to adjust these controversies for the use of "cracking" patents by licensing the companies.

Pooling Agreements

These so-called pooling agreements were not combinations in restraint of trade or commerce among the states or foreign nations, as charged by the government, the answer asserted, but on the contrary the Standard Oil Company of Indiana "has endeavored to and has observed in letter and spirit the laws of the United States of Indiana."

The defendant company, according to the answer, owned 23 valid U. S. patents for the "cracking" process. Early in its experience in licensing other companies to use its patents, the answer said, there were restrictive clauses in the contracts, as advised by its legal counsel for the protection of its business but that "all contracts containing the restrictive provision" about which the government complained, expired more than six years before filing the suit so that "long prior to the commencement of this suit the practice of placing any restriction whatsoever upon licenses had been abandoned."

Within Limitations

Its licenses now, the company contended, "are wholly free of limitations as to quantity of production, place of sale or price."

In 1923 when domestic production of gasoline reached seven and one-half billion gallons, 80 per cent of it was what was known as "straight run" gasoline and not produced by the "cracking" methods as patented.

"Straight run" gasoline, it explains, is produced by the use of heat and stills.

Indian Lands Sell Well With Good Farm Crops

Ft. Yates, N. D., Oct. 20.—A good indication of the better times resulting from this year's crop is seen in the fact that there were 16 tracts of land sold Friday at the Indian land sale for October. In all 18 bids were received on 3,420 acres of land. Six of the tracts sold were in North Dakota and 10 in South Dakota. Of the six sold in North Dakota, W. H. Ordway was the successful bidder on four. This is the best land sale for any month in the last three years. It is expected that a large amount of this non-completed and inherited Indian land will be sold before spring.

Minot, Oct. 20.—District superintendents of the four districts of the Methodist Church in North Dakota will remain the same during the coming year and there will be but few changes in the larger pastorate in the state, according to a list of appointments announced by Bishop H. Lester Smith of Helena, Montana, announced at the concluding session of the North Dakota Methodist Episcopal Conference.

The Rev. G. Leroy White, pastor of Vincent M. E. church of Minot, was reappointed for another year as was also Rev. Frank Hollett, superintendent of the Minot district of the church.

PROSPERITY CLAIM MADE BY DEMOCRATS

John W. Davis Disputes
Statements Made By Charles Evans Hughes

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 18. (By the A. P.) The Democratic campaign against the prosperity which he says the nation now enjoys under Democratic administration had to an war particularly bitter tone at a meeting of Charles E. Hughes, ex-Chief Justice, and John W. Davis, ex-President, who met to discuss the claims to credit for the prosperity of the country.

"Mr. Hughes well knows that the Republicans claimed the benefit of a clean and wholesome administration when they went into power in 1920," Mr. Davis said. "Business and prosperity had mounted to a high peak. If there is any danger it will be the Democrats who inherit it on March 4. Any thinking man will tell you the same thing."

BIG MOTORS HELD GONE

Development Proves They Are Not Needed

The day of the big displacement engine in motor cars is over, in the opinion of Walter P. Chrysler, president and chairman of the board of directors of the Maxwell and Chrysler Motor Corporations. He said as much in an interview given out in New York yesterday. The unmistakable trend in every kind of gasoline engine today is toward a small, light weight, high compression motor, capable of getting two at low, intermediate or high speed and extremely flexible, he pointed out.

For the 500-mile Indianapolis race in 1924, cars must be built with cubic inch displacement of not more than 96 inches. "This is quite different from the type of engine used in the first 500-mile race in 1911," he said. "At that time, engines with displacement up to 600 cubic inches were allowed. The little 118 to 122-inch cars which competed in the race three last Memorial Day would have run around those big cumbersome cars. The winning car at Indianapolis in 1911, which was 600 cubic inches displacement, averaged 74.08 miles an hour. Last Memorial Day the winning car, with a displacement of 120.8 cubic inches—about one-fifth as large—averaged 98.24 miles an hour."

"Had the two winning cars of 1911 and 1924 raced on the same track that day, the little 120-inch model would have won the race before the larger one had completed 200 miles. It would have won two hours ahead of time the 1911 winner could have made the distance. As a matter of fact, the 1911 winner wouldn't have been close to the tenth car this year. It would have been nearly 100 miles behind it."

What has been accomplished by racing cars since 1911 has been duplicated by the manufacturers of passenger automobiles. The passenger engine of more than 200 cubic inch displacement is actually out of date today, save for exceptional cases. It carries too much weight for the performance of which it is capable.

SORLIE SOUGHT JOB AT MILL

Offered Place, He Says;
Sought it, Say Others

A. G. Sorlie, Norwegian League candidate for Governor, was an applicant for the position of manager of the state mill and elevator at Grand Forks. Mr. Sorlie was not appointed, and now is a candidate for a position that would make him virtual boss of the mill anyway.

The information became public in a speech made by Mr. Sorlie, reported in the Bismarck Courier. He was reported as saying that the board of managers had offered him the management of the mill, because of his successful business experience, but that when they found out how he would run it, withdrew the offer.

Governor Nestor, chairman of the Industrial Commission, asked concerning the matter said, Mr. Sorlie's statement as reported in the Courier, if made, is wholly untrue. Mr. Sorlie solicited from the Industrial Commission the appointment as general manager of the mill and elevator, contending that general business experience was all that was necessary to run the institution. The Industrial Commission, believing that specific knowledge and successful experience in the management of the mill and elevator business was essential to success in managing the state enterprise, declined to appoint Sorlie. The reason for the election of C. L. Austin as manager was that he had wide and successful experience in managing both mills and elevators.

MANY IDEAS ORIGINATED WITH OAKLAND

While the basic reason for the early growth of the motor car industry was the need for personal transportation, the fact that the industry has reached such gigantic proportions is due to its capacity for constant improvement of its product to meet the ever-changing needs of transportation.

New ideas of design or manufacture are quickly taken up. The industry is not static. It is eagerly open to new suggestions. That is why any motor car five years old looks so antiquated. It is a swift-moving industry.

Thus it is that each year, on some make of motor car, appears a new feature or a series of new features that are soon taken up by the whole industry.

During the last year and a half the Oakland Motor Car company, one of the General Motors group, has introduced some of the most important new features of advanced design.

Oakland was the first motor car manufacturer to introduce Duco finish as standard on all its models. This type of finish is undoubtedly one of the most important developments since the beginning of the industry, and scarcely a month passes but an announcement is made that some other motor car company is adopting it as standard on certain or all models. Though automobile tops are scarcely ever put down, the majority of motor car tops are still of the collapsible type. Oakland was the first to introduce a permanent top.

A Ride Will Prove All The Amazing Facts About The Chrysler Six

The fact that the Chrysler Six is not only different from conventional cars, but is vastly superior has created a demand that has taxed the resources of a great organization.

The whole country is talking about this car. You yourself have undoubtedly heard much about its performance, its economy and its other unusual characteristics.

But if you have not examined it, ridden in it, driven it, you have no real appreciation of the contribution it has made to the advancement of motoring.

There are many other things that will arouse your enthusiasm when you ride in the car. You will be especially impressed with the way space has been engineered. Chrysler cars are not excessive in size. Yet they offer the spacious comfort ordinarily associated with heavier cars.

Hiram P. Maxim Calls Willys-Knight "Smoother Than Most Sixes and Eights"

HIRAM PERCY MAXIM, President of the Maxim Silencer Company, says: "The Lanchester Balancer certainly takes out the vibration. It makes the motor smoother than most six and eight-cylinders on the road today."

No Vibration

Ever since automobiles have been built, engineers have been everlastingly striving to conquer engine vibration. Now the new Willys-Knight achieves positive engine smoothness by a device so simple and efficient that all engineers are wondering why it wasn't invented years ago.

The Lanchester Balancer... the discovery of Dr. F. W. Lanchester, F. R. S., builder of one of the most expensive motor cars in Great Britain. By securing the United States rights for the use of this remarkable invention, Willys-Knight introduces in America an entirely new conception of enjoyable motoring.

This is still another triumph for a car already famous for its engine. The Willys-Knight sleeve-valve engine actually improves with use. Never needs valve-grinding. Never needs carbon-cleaning. Owners report 50,000 miles and more without an engine adjustment.

Everybody is talking about Willys-Knight's vibrationless performance—and everybody who rides talks of the thrill of it. If only for the sake of a new experience, drive a Willys-Knight over the road today at all speeds.

GET OUT VOTE IS SLOGAN OF MANY BODIES

Intensive Drive in North Dakota Is Opened to Get Citizens to Polls

HELD DUTY OF ALL

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 20.—With many agencies engaged in the get-out-and-vote campaign, it is apparent at this time that a large number of voters who may have failed to go to the polls in prior elections will be brought to the voting places on Nov. 4.

Various methods are being employed in the campaign, all directed toward the single proposition of impressing the voter with the great importance of exercising his voting right.

Statistics have disclosed that a large percentage of voters have failed to turn out in previous elections. In the primary of last year, for instance, for each 100 voters who participated, 88 voters failed to go to the polls.

W. C. T. U. Enlisted
"Everybody Votes But the Slackers" is the motto that the North Dakota W. C. T. U. has adopted as its slogan for the getting out the vote campaign. Some 10,000 posters bearing this slogan have been sent out over the state from the headquarters in Fargo and the local unions will take charge of the placing of them in stores, shops and public places where they will attract attention.

In communities where the campaign work has not been organized, members are asked to go out and visit all families in their communities and acquaint them with their voting privileges and then to see that these persons use this right on election day. In places where organizations are working for this, members of the W. C. T. U. are encouraged to co-operate with them. Plans are being made for the celebration of "The March of Allegiance to the Polls" on Saturday, Nov. 1, in all places where it is possible to do so. It is expected that about 1,000 posters bearing the campaign slogan will be distributed in Fargo within the next two weeks by the members of the Fargo Scandinavian W. C. T. U.

Masonic Campaign
Through the committee on Masonic service and education, letters have been sent to every local Masonic lodge in the state calling upon the membership to vote on Nov. 4. Recognizing that the organization has nothing to do with party politics, the letter stated, yet the members are pledged to do their best for the country and "from which they derive uncounted blessings." Each local lodge will send a copy of the letter to each of its members. Some 10,000 copies are being distributed in this manner.

In accordance with the policy adopted by the national organization, the North Dakota department of the American Legion has mailed letters to all posts in the state, through Jack Williams, state adjutant, pointing out the seriousness of the situation arising out of the large group who do not exercise their privilege and duty of using the ballot. Legionnaires are called upon to get out a 100 per cent vote. The program being carried on in Fargo through the Fargo Kiwanis club, under which a complete canvass of the city will be made prior to the election, is being carried out in each town in the state where the Kiwanis is organized.

In Fargo the Kiwanians have the support of the Lions and Exchange clubs, each of which has enrolled 100 per cent, while the Rotary, at its meeting next week, will call for volunteers to aid in a 100 per cent canvass. The program is wholly nonpolitical, and is intended only to impress on every voter the great necessity for going to the polls.

The North Dakota Federation of Women's clubs, and the North Dakota League of Women Voters, also are engaged in the campaign, each organization devoting itself to the task of impressing upon the voter the great necessity for going to the polls.

By means of circular letters and pamphlets sent out to its members all over the state, the North Dakota Bankers association, is conducting an active campaign in the "get out and vote" drive, in cooperation with other organizations of Fargo and the state, according to W. C. MacPadden, secretary of the association.

On the pamphlets sent out is the question, "Will you take this pledge?" The pledge is "I pledge myself to vote at the coming election. But I can't vote if I don't register. Therefore, I pledge myself to register and make that registration good with my vote."

On the reverse side of the pamphlet there is considerable more literature urging the voters.

Makes Fine Profit on His Crop of Rye

Carrington, N. D., Oct. 20.—The region abounds this fall in little prosperity stories—things that so forcefully show what a fair season and decent prices on farm products will do. One comes to our attention from the experience of J. L. Walton, southwest of town, whose experience with 64 acres of rye is by no means phenomenal but nevertheless shows the profit that is being made on many farms.

Here are the facts in brief: Last fall he sowed in on spring plowing 64 acres of winter rye. It took three days to do the work and the 64 bushels of seed cost him $20 a bushel or a total of $320. A while back the 64 acres were threshed and 950 bushels of rye received. He had paid in three days threshing the crop and paid $124.67 for threshing it. That left a cash outlay for

JUNIOR RED CROSS FILLS XMAS BOXES

To Start Correspondence with Foreign Children to Promote Friendship

The filling of the Red Cross boxes for the children of foreign countries by the school children of the United States, has brought a mutual understanding and friendship that it would be impossible to attain in any other way. The project enables members and groups to make personal gifts to foreign children who might not receive a Christmas gift were it not for this movement.

There are now 5,453,745 school children enrolled in the Junior Red Cross and children of forty other countries are enrolled making an international organization.

The filling of the boxes has been carried on by the help of the teachers of the schools, with Miss Madge Runey in charge of the Junior Red Cross and children of forty other countries are enrolled making an international organization.

The Junior Red Cross has given to education an altruistic element, which is well illustrated by a pupil in an Atlanta, Georgia, school, who said, "The Junior Red Cross makes you feel like a very little I and a great big YOU."

The pupils of the Burlington county schools have filled 150 boxes which are ready for shipment today. These boxes contained articles with which to play and other useful articles. These are a few of the things sent:

Tag or celluloid doll, hair ribbon, handkerchiefs, stockings, buttons, colored pictures, colored picture book, puzzles, rubber balls, small wood or metal toys, marbles, tops, wash cloth, cake of soap, tooth brush, tooth powder or paste, comb.

These boxes will be sent to the following countries:

At today's luncheon, Chairman Sveinbjorn Johnson read a communication from W. C. After discussion a committee composed of Scott Cameron and Jack Parkinson was named to meet with representatives of other clubs here and carry on a campaign.

Rev. W. J. Hutcherson of Fargo was a guest.

Supreme Court Decides Shopmen During Strike Entitled to Jury Trial

CLAYTON ACT VALID

Washington, Oct. 20.—Railroad employees who joined the shop men's strike of 1922 were entitled to trial by jury when charged with contempt of court, it was held today by the Supreme Court.

The relationship of employer and employee do not cease, the court held, when a workman goes on strike, and the provisions of the Clayton act for protection of the employee therefore apply under such circumstances.

That part of the Clayton act which provided that employees may demand a trial by jury was declared by the court to be constitutional and valid.

The question had been brought before the court by Sam Michaelson and others who had been employed by the Chicago, St. Paul and Omaha Railway Companies and who claimed that under the Clayton act they were entitled to a trial by jury.

matter of the funds raised by our opponents as well. On September 9 in Milwaukee 100 LaFollette leaders held a meeting and decided to raise $500,000 in that state. Among those present were Herman Ekert, attorney general who presided, Governor John J. Blaine and State Treasurer Sol Levitan. This $500,000 was to be apportioned to various congressional districts, each one of eight districts raising $43,000 and three districts, the third, fourth and fifth each raising $55,000. Those were the quotas fixed.

"Proportionately that fund, for Wisconsin was much larger than that proposed by certain Republicans in Pennsylvania. I can only hope that the Third party managers have been more successful in filling their quotas than we have. The Republican party has no objection to the raising of funds for the Third party candidates by such gigantic organizations as the American Federation of Labor or the railroad brotherhoods but such funds must of necessity become the subject of inquiry by the Senatorial committee if it is to continue hearings at this time.

"We have gone into the committee and given the amount of our budget, the receipts to date and a survey of our expenditures. It must now be apparent to the Republican men and women of America that we are conducting a presidential campaign on more economical lines. Moreover it is clear that we need more funds.

"I appeal to those who believe in the principles for which we are fighting to contribute in order that we may wind up the campaign on November 4 without a deficit. The election is just two weeks away. Already we have had smoke screens to cover attention from the main issues. During these next 14 days there will be many more such smoke screens put up by our opponents, but we go into this last phase of the campaign confident that we shall win. We ask the citizens of the country to keep their minds fixed upon the fundamental issues instead of the charges and counter-charges which some of our opponents selecting the Senatorial committee as the stage will make.

"Our reports indicate and polls taken by newspapers and organizations throughout the land affirm that Selwyn Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes will be overwhelmingly elected president and vice president on November 4."

Although only 4400 stars can be seen with the naked eye, a catalog of 4,000,000 is being prepared.

Butler Says Democrats, Third Party Leaders, in Alliance

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Conferees with "some 150 state and district leaders" during the last week has convinced chairman William M. Butler of the Republican national committee of the "open alliance between Democratic and third party leaders in certain states," Mr. Butler declared in a statement today.

"The open alliance," Mr. Butler's statement said, "of the Democratic and third party leaders in certain states to throw the election into Congress and thus deprive the voters of their right to select a President at the polls has stiffened opposition to this plan by determination to vote for Calvin Coolidge."

GET OUT VOTE IS SLOGAN OF MANY BODIES

Intensive Drive in North Dakota Is Opened to Get Citizens to Polls

HELD DUTY OF ALL

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 20.—With many agencies engaged in the get out and vote campaign, it is apparent at this time that a large number of voters who have failed to go to the polls in prior elections will be brought to the voting places on Nov. 4.

Various methods are being employed in the campaign, in order to overcome the single proposition campaign, the voters with the greatest importance of exercising their right.

Statistics have disclosed that a large percentage of voters failed to turn out in previous elections. In the primary of last June, for instance, only 100,000 voters participated, 85,000 failed to go to the polls.

W. C. T. U. Enlisted. The motto of the North Dakota W. C. T. U. is "get out and vote." The slogan for the get out and vote campaign, "get out and vote," has been adopted by the state.

In communities where the campaign work has been organized, members are asked to go out and visit all voters in their communities and acquaint them with the voting process.

It is estimated that about 100,000 voters are being reached by the campaign. The slogan "get out and vote" is being distributed in Fargo within the next few weeks by the members of the Fargo Scandinavian W. C. T. U.

MASSONIC CAMPAIGN

Through the committee on Masonic service and education, letters have been sent to every local Masonic lodge in the state calling upon the members to vote on Nov. 4.

Recognizing that the organization has nothing to do with politics, the letter stated, yet the members are urged to do their best for the country and the lodge.

Each local lodge will send a copy of the letter to each of its members. Since 10,000 copies are being distributed in the state.

In accordance with the policy adopted by the national organization, the North Dakota department of the American Legion has mailed 100,000 letters in the state.

The program being carried on in Fargo through the Fargo Kiwanis club, under which a complete canvass of the city will be made prior to the election, is being carried out in each town of the state where the Kiwanis are organized.

In Fargo the Kiwanis have the support of the largest of the Kiwanis clubs, each of which has an output of 100 per cent, while the Rotary at its meeting next week will have volunteers to aid in the work.

The North Dakota Federation of Women's Clubs and the North Dakota League of Women Voters, also are engaged in the campaign, and are organizing a "get out and vote" drive.

By means of circular letters and pamphlets sent out to its members, the state, the North Dakota Farmers' association, is conducting a drive to get out and vote.

On the reverse side of the letter, there is a space for the voter to sign and return to the campaign.

Makes Fine Profit on His Crop of Rye

Carrington, N. D., Oct. 20.—The crop of rye in this section of the state is reported to be a very good one.

PRINCESS UNBOBBED

Princess Jewell Dawn (above) of the Wapacka tribe, and Ellen Norris (below) of the Klamath tribe, finally have done so. The tribes live near the Oregon-California boundary.

To bob or not to bob is a question just as vexing to the Indian maiden as it is to her pale-faced sister. Princess Jewell Dawn (above) of the Wapacka tribe, and Ellen Norris (below) of the Klamath tribe, finally have done so.

The tribes live near the Oregon-California boundary. The princess is a girl which is being taken to the state capital on Saturday.

We hope that you will accept the invitation to a good will visit to the state capital on Saturday. We wish to see you and hear this Christmas and we hope that you will write a letter to the editor.

This box was given by the 8th grade of the Wapacka School, Bismarck, N. D.

MANY GEESE ON LONG LAKE

Although Sunday was not a good duck hunting day, several Bismarck hunters realized an ambition—to bag a goose.

One local hunter reported that there must have been 5,000 big, white geese on Long Lake Sunday. Being a wary bird the goose is hard to bag, but probably two dozen were killed over the weekend on Long Lake.

matter of the funds raised by our opponents as well. On September 9 in Milwaukee 100 La Follette leaders held a meeting and decided to raise $500,000 in that state. Among those present were Herman Ekern, attorney general who presided, Governor John J. Blaine and State Treasurer So. Levitt. This $500,000 was to be apportioned to various congressional districts, each one of eight districts, the third, fourth and fifth each raising $55,000. Those were the quotas fixed.

"Proportionately that fund, for Wisconsin was much larger than that proposed by certain Republicans in Pennsylvania. I can only hope that the Third party managers have been more successful in filling their quotas than we have. The Republican party has no objection to the raising of funds for the Third party candidates by such gigantic organizations as the American Federation of Labor or the railroad brotherhoods but such funds must of necessity become the subject of inquiry by the senatorial committee if it is to continue hearings at this time.

"We have gone into the committee and given the amount of our deficit, the receipts to date and a survey of our expenditures. It must now be apparent to the Republican men and women of America that we are conducting a presidential campaign on most economical lines. Moreover it is clear that we need more funds.

"I appeal to those who believe in the principles for which we are fighting to contribute in order that we may wind up the campaign on November 4 without a deficit. The election is just two weeks away. Already we have had smoke screens to divert attention from the main issue. But there will be many more such smoke screens put up by our opponents, but we go into this last phase of the campaign confident that we shall win. We ask the citizens of the country to keep their minds fixed upon the fundamental issues instead of the charges and counter-charges which some of our opponents are selecting the senatorial committee as the stage will make.

"Our reports indicate and polls taken by newspapers and organizations throughout the land affirm that Calvin Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes will be overwhelmingly elected president and vice president on November 4."

Butler Says Democrats, Third Party Leaders, in Alliance

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Conferees with "some 150 state and district leaders" during the last week has convinced chairman William M. Butler of the Republican national committee of the "open alliance" between Democratic and third party leaders in certain states," Mr. Butler declared in a statement today. "The open alliance," Mr. Butler's statement said, "of the Democratic and third party leaders in certain states to throw the election into Congress and thus deprive the voters of their right to select a President at the polls has stirred opposition to this plan by determination to vote for Calvin Coolidge."

MR. LAFOLLETTE AND POLITICS

Senator LaFollette has many friends in North Dakota. He has proved this in the vote he has received on several occasions. He has the advantage of being regarded as a Northwest man, in comparison to his opponents for the Presidency. There is an illusion in the minds of some that he is the only champion of the downtrodden agriculturist.

In the present campaign Senator LaFollette is a candidate for the highest office in the land. He is an independent candidate, without a definite or responsible party behind him. He has a platform but it is inconceivable that he could obtain support in Congress to put it in effect, if he succeeded in capturing the presidency. Without a Congress to back him, nothing but demoralization could come from his elevation to the office of chief executive.

Senator LaFollette is an astute politician. He does not deny that he observes the political rules. He was quoted by Congressman James H. Sinclair here recently as attributing his success to the fact that he never forgot the machinery of politics. And there is good reason for believing that the Senator has played politics in marked degree in order to win the support of voters in this campaign.

Senator LaFollette announced he was for government ownership. This has not proved popular. It especially has not proved popular with real estate owners, the largest class being farmers, because almost confiscatory taxes would result. The record made by railroads in private hands as compared to government operation has not helped his arguments. The nation has the strictest kind of regulation of railroads. That is what the average man wants, not government ownership. Senator LaFollette now is "hedging" on this issue, and stating that if elected he would "study the question thoroughly." It is a question he claims to have studied carefully for 25 years.

The LaFollette plan to demoralize our system of government—the check and balance as between legislative, judicial and executive—by virtually degrading the supreme court of its powers, has not proved popular. The Senator has "hedged" on this issue, and answered with a platitude, in his Minneapolis speech, to the effect that he favors the sovereignty of all the people.

The manner in which Senator LaFollette has changed his mind on specific issues, to win political support, does not augur well for the selection of a President. The nation needs a president who will steer what he believes is a straight course, regardless of consequences. The little man from New England appears to have done this. President Coolidge has vetoed measures that injured him politically, cost him votes. He vetoed them because he believed he was right, and doubtless has won the respect even of his opponents.

President Coolidge has laid down a clear program of efficiency, honesty and economy in the government. Such a government is the need and desire of the nation at all times. He offers every opportunity for individual success, with the proper protection afforded by the government.

There is nothing for the Northwest to gain by voting for Senator LaFollette. There is something to gain by voting for President Coolidge. His administration thus far argues well for his support. He stands ready to put the force of the government into operation to help all its people. He promises an orderly government, strictly American. Such a government makes for contentment and prosperity.

"WHAT'S YOUR HURRY?"

Automobile and other street accidents have become so numerous in many cities that campaigns have been commenced to teach the public, pedestrians as well as drivers of vehicles, the wisdom of exercising care on the public streets.

Investigations of accidents on the streets have developed that a large per cent of them is avoidable; that they are the result of carelessness on the part of the driver of the vehicle or the pedestrian who is the worst sufferer when a collision occurs.

Men and women rush across the streets or between street cars and vehicles, apparently without any thought of the dangers they face in doing so. Many persons can be seen leaving a street car at the rear door and crossing the street behind the car, thereby running the risk of being struck by a car passing on the "blind" side.

Automobile drivers are not blameless in the matter. Many of them take chances in rushing across a street ahead of a street car or another automobile, all for the evident purpose of saving a few seconds, as if the saving of time justified running the risk of being struck.

Even without the aid of a traffic officer at the street crossing, travel would adjust itself if every person exercised good judgment in crossing. "Go with the traffic" is advice which may be followed with safety under almost every condition.

Every person, driver or pedestrian, who uses the streets has it in his power to aid in making the streets safe for all.

RESISTING T. B.

No use getting scared because tuberculosis of the lungs has killed possibly 50 million people in the last 43 years. Skilled medical specialists will tell you, autopsies show that four out of every five have T. B. at some time or other in life, usually in very mild form. They are attacked—but conquer the invader or hold it in check.

The danger isn't so much in germs as in the body's power of resistance being broken down so it cannot fight germs. Fright and too much worry about self are often as deadly as germs and low bodily resistance combined.

The outlook for the success of any business depends entirely on the intake.

THE PROBLEM IS NOT SOLVED

(St. Paul Pioneer-Press)

Former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, came as near as any man of putting the situation of agriculture today in a few words, when he addressed the Inland Press association at Chicago yesterday. "Good crops this fall," he told the newspaper men, "have not solved what the politicians call the farm problem."

This is undeniably true. Good crops and good prices have, for the one year, given relief and afforded an avenue of escape from complete bankruptcy. But there is no guarantee that in 1925 there will be good crops, good prices or an almost world wide shortage of grain in countries other than the United States. It is right, therefore, that we should not be lulled into a false security, when by the very nature of things it cannot be so.

The year 1924 gives us a breathing spell and a time in which to set our house in order. President Coolidge recognizes this by his announcement of appointing an agricultural commission which shall report to him and to Congress the steps necessary to prevent a recurrence of the depression from which we are just emerging.

Co-operative marketing is the specific offered by Mr. Lowden. "The farmers' marketing methods," says he, "are a century behind," and they are, in comparison with the marketing methods of every other industry. Yet it is obvious to the farmer is unable both by his individualistic attitude, his isolation and his financial status to make the jump of one hundred years within a year. He can not lift himself by his own bootstraps. He must have governmental encouragement and aid until the time comes when he can walk alone and undertake the management, operation and control of the co-operative marketing Mr. Lowden indicates.

The history of co-operative enterprise in the United States, so far, shows that it takes something more than willingness, earnestness and sincerity to make them successful. Business capacity and capability is not born over night nor is co-operation self-executing. The real problem to be solved is bound up in the task of getting that supervision and aid which will make co-operative marketing work, which will set the engine in motion and supply it with the fuel to keep it going until its new owner, the farmer, can operate it himself.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

The Twins woke up one morning to find a little note pinned to their pillow.

It said:

"Dear Children:

"What do you think? Someone stole the House That Jack Built. Picked it right up where it stood on Pippin Hill and walked off with it."

Of course, the twins, who were night of Jack and Jill's party when Mrs. John, Jack's mother, lost her elder and ples in the dumb-waiter.

"Next morning when Jack and Jill had gone down the hill, and Mrs. John had gone to market, someone took it. When they came back the house was as gone as yesterday."

"Will you go and help them to hunt for it? Ever since you found the lost sleepy sand at the bottom of the sea, people think you are too smart for anything. I haven't time to go because I'm busy showing my ground fairies how to stack up moss and dirt around plants so that Jack Frost cannot hurt them this winter."

"Go and help Jack if you can, because if he doesn't find his house before winter, I don't know what he and his mother and sister will do."

"The magic shoes are under your bed. Put them on and you will find yourselves on Pippin Hill at once."

Lovingly yours,

"The Fairy Queen."

"Jimenez!" cried Nick. "I should say we would go!"

And he sprang out of bed and into his clothes and slipped on the magic shoes.

And Nancy sprang out of her little bed and did the same thing. I mean she put on her clothes and her shoes! Not Nick's.

And as truly as I tell you, didn't they find themselves right on the top of Pippin Hill where all the apples grew.

But alas and alack!

Where Jack's fine new house had stood only the day before, nothing was left but the cellar!

There were Mrs. John's washing tubs and her butter-crocks and her preserves, and her step-ladder, and her clothes-progs, which she had brought in in case of rain, and her cider-barrel, and her winter-apples, and her sack of potatoes 'n everything.

Everything to keep house with but no home to keep!

It was a dreadful state of affairs! There was Jack and there was Jill and there was Mrs. John looking as though the world had come to a sudden end.

"What do you suppose could have happened?" said Nancy.

Jack and Jill and Mrs. John looked over so surprised to see the Twins when you go any place by magic it is natural that you should make no noise at all.

No nobody had noticed them until Nancy spoke.

"We haven't the least idea," said Mrs. John. "Not the least. All I know is that one minute we had a house and the next minute we didn't."

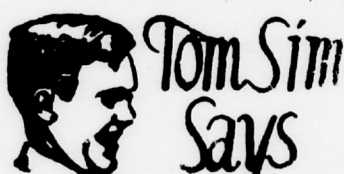

That's all."

"Maybe the wind blew it away," said Nick.

There's Only One Way to Deal With This Gentleman

"Maybe it did," said Jack.
"Maybe someone needed a house and stole it," said Nancy.
"Maybe," said Jill.
"Oh, dear me! Maybes won't bring our house back," sighed Mrs. John. "I really don't know what we are going to do about it."
"Don't worry," said a kind voice close by. And there stood fat, kind Mrs. Spratt, the fattest person in all Daddy Gander Land. "Come right over to my house and have breakfast, all of you. Jack and I have pancakes and bacon every morning. He eats the pancakes and I eat the bacon. We can talk it over at the breakfast table."

If you think I would not be intruding on your mother's great grief, will you tell her that my heart is filled with sorrow. ARE YOU AN EXPERT?

By Albert Apple

Some one has defined an expert as a man who lives 100 miles away and charges $100 a day for his services. Experts, however, have their place and are necessary. An interesting development is this: In many fields, the INDIVIDUAL EXPERT is being displaced by an EXPERT METHOD that can be applied by average common sense.

For instance, it is an expert's task to determine the "mental age" of children, and particularly children not sufficiently subnormal to be placed in institutions but too far below average intelligence to keep pace with an ordinary school class, accordingly needing special classes.

Experts have charge of such work. Usually they go around from one community to another, in "caravan clinics."

One of the leading authorities in this work is Dr. Samuel B. Sinclair. In a recent speech he announced: "An ordinary teacher, with a few hours' instruction regarding methods of observation and inquiry, and without giving a formal intelligence test, can estimate a subnormal child's mental age within a few per cent of the Stanford-Binet Estimate. Her findings for a subnormal class are superior to those of a group test, and for this purpose caravan clinics are unnecessary."

Dr. Sinclair came to this conclusion after teachers had estimated children's mental age in 400 cases and demonstrated that the teachers reached almost exactly the same results or ratings as obtained by experts.

It illustrates how the individual expert tends to be displaced by the expert method that can be applied by almost any one with good sense.

Increasingly it is the function of experts to create expert methods and in such a way that they can be applied or used by others than specialists.

Another illustration is radio, extremely complicated. Yet a lad can build his own radio, though he couldn't repair that far simpler mechanism, a watch. The reason is that experts, instead of keeping their secrets to themselves and building all radios under their own supervision, have created and released expert systems or hook-ups—easily put into effect by any one with fair intelligence.

The ability to "carry out" complicated instructions is amazingly widespread. It speaks highly for the educational system that has made it possible by brain training.

Unless someone claims his body before these lines reach print, Old Man Gannon will be buried in Potter's Field.

For 20 years he lived in the same room over in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn. He always paid his rent, although he never worked and seemed to have no source of income.

Day in and day out he sat and read of Caesar, Alexander, Napoleon and other heroes of the centuries.

When they found him dead, they found these histories with dog-eared pages and marked passages. They found pen and paper, but the paper was blank. Old Man Gannon had a story to tell, but it was left untold.

He had intended to write a history some day, but that day never came.

Perhaps there is no importance in being earnest, after all.

Old Man Gannon was earnest. He wouldn't do the job unless he could do it well.

Maybe the job wasn't as big as he thought it was. We all so often magnify our ideals that they seem unreal, out of reach.

And if he had done the best he could, his body might not now be unclaimed.

Superstitious New York: There is no floor in the Times Building numbered 13. In the very heart of New York, hard-headed men still cling to sentiment and superstition.

Cosmopolitan New York—An electioneering wagon informs the public that the Italian Victory Club endorses John J. Boylan.

In five haberdasheries along Eighth avenue one now bow tie is displayed, except the kind that snap on with a rubber band. The west side nabob hasn't yet learned to tie his own.

She worked in a beauty parlor on Times Square. She shampooed the hair of many actresses and was known by them as a girl of unusually cheerful disposition. On Friday she made engagements with several customers for Saturday. On Saturday she was in a padded cell on Ward's Island.

How swiftly, suddenly, ruthlessly Fate strikes!

—JAMES W. DEAN.

FABLES ON HEALTH

MORE FOOT EXERCISE

There are any number of good exercises for the feet, as Mr. Jones learned from his physical instructor.

In addition to those that previously had been given here were a few more to try in the morning directly after rising:

Sit on the edge of the bed with legs crossed. Let foot hang loosely and then begin making circles with the foot. Do this first with right and then with left foot.

Foot gripping is another good exercise, particularly for the toes. Sit on the bed with feet paralleling.

Stretch out toes and then pull them in, as though they were clutching at something.

Rising to feet, start walking about the room, gripping at the floor with each step. Be careful not to grip with the foot upon which the weight of the body rests.

If these exercises are kept up, along with other setting-up exercises, strengthened foot muscles will result within a short time.

DICKINSON CHOSEN

Following strenuous pleas on the part of representatives from Bismarck and Dickinson, each of which sought the honor of entertaining the southwestern district, North Dakota Education association annual convention in 1925, Dickinson was declared victor on the final ballot by the close margin of 9 votes with more than 450 votes being cast. The annual convention then adjourned after three days crammed with busy sessions.

SPOOKS

(Florence Boerner)

When I was just a little kid my mother used to say, That if I was not awful good and minded her, each day, A big, black spook would catch me when I went upstairs to bed, And never bring me back again until I was plumb dead.

She told me awful stories of the things the spook would do, He'd claw, and bite and scratch me and he'd beat me black and blue; And goodness gracious, I was scared, I'd lie in bed awake, And away upstairs all by myself, I'd shake, and shake and shake.

And, even since I'm grown up, when the wind begins to shriek, And sets the windows rattling with an intermittent squeak, Altho I'm not exactly scared, if truthful words be said, I feel a wee bit safer when I've covered up my head.

FASHIONS

The importance of the wide leather belt as an accessory for the fall tailleur cannot be overestimated.

It is quite the thing to have the street frock match exactly in color the fur with which it is to be worn.

A double-headed hatpin with one black pearl and one white one is very smart stuck through the front of a white felt hat.

Many of the most interesting gowns are slashed at one side to reveal a petticoat or insert of gorgeous material.

A smart little frock of gray wool has a row of silver buttons the size of a dime set very close together all the way down neckline to hemline and has a very wide band of gray fur outlining the narrow hem.

Squares or very large dots of velvet are woven into silk voile to produce a material that is very lovely for negligees or draped gowns.

White velvet gowns are very novel for evening. They are draped very simply or possibly trimmed with rhinestones or pearls.

Sleeves on daytime frocks have grown longer and sometimes extend far over the hand.

ELTINGE

Who was the beautiful woman who smiled bravely while her stern-looking husband, clad in the uniform of an officer of high rank, slowly closed his fingers in vice-like grip over her bare arm?

Diners crowding the tables of a fashionable cafe in a European city who witnessed this little act of cruelty exhausted their imaginations in speculation concerning the identity of the pair. When the woman, superb in a gown of black velvet, rose from the table, all eyes followed her as she swept from the room.

The scene occurs in "Lily of the Dust," Pola Negri's latest starring picture for Paramount produced by Dimitri Buchowetzki and showing at the Eltinge Theatre tonight.

Pola plays the role of the wife, and Noah Beery that of the officer. The story which lies behind this little tragedy in the dining room is one of the most dramatic and fascinating which has ever been made into a motion picture film.

Heading the strong cast playing in support of the star are Ben Lyon, Beery and Raymond Griffith. Other stars: William J. Kelly and Jeanette Daudet. Paul Bern wrote the screen play.

CAPITOL

Some of the most historical places now existing in the United States are shown in the various scenes which appear in the latest William Fox production, "The Warrens of Virginia." The picture was made under the direction of Elmer Clifton and deals with the closing days of the Civil War.

One of the places visited was Shirley, Virginia, where the original home of Gen. Robert E. Lee still stands as it was when Gen. Lee's mother, who was Anne Carter, resided there. It was in this home also that Gen. Lee's grandparents were married. Many of the scenes shown in the picture are taken in and around this house.

Another historical place shown in the picture is the famous San Jose Mission near San Antonio. It was here that many of the love scenes were made. The mission is the oldest in existence in the United States. No accurate record exists as to its age, but it is known that it was built more than two hundred years ago. Its walls are well preserved and each Sunday a Padre holds services at the original altar.

Scenes showing the famous Alamo at San Antonio also are shown. Many of the war scenes in the picture were taken along the banks of the historic Colorado river, which flows past the Alamo. It was across this stream, history records, that the sole survivor from the Alamo escaped when the Indians attacked those gathered within its massive walls and massacred them all.

Other historical places also are shown in "The Warrens of Virginia," which, with its powerful plot makes it doubly interesting. This picture will be shown at the Capitol Theatre for two days, commencing tonight.

LUXURIOUS WRAPS WHICH HAVE BEEN CREATED FOR MILADY TO WEAR THIS WINTER

BY MARIAN HALE NEA Service Writer

New York, Oct. 20. The fur coat season is before us.

The annual temptation to take the money out of the savings account or to mortgage the old home for all it will bring and invest in fur, sales and seals must soon be yielded to or conquered.

To the strong, these photographs will mean little, but to the weak they show conclusively how much easier it is to be irresistible in fur than in fabric.

Wraps this season are very luxurious indeed, because gowns are so simple. And furs are now so skillfully handled that they are as soft as satin and may be draped as easily.

The richest of these garments is the white ermine wrap with the pointed hemline outlined with crosswise pelts and ermine tails. Numberless little animals laid down their lives for it and brought it up well.

Its walls are well preserved and each Sunday a Padre holds services at the original altar.

Scenes showing the famous Alamo at San Antonio also are shown. Many of the war scenes in the picture were taken along the banks of the historic Salado river, which flows past the Alamo. It was across this stream, history records, that the sole survivor from the Alamo escaped when the Indians attacked those gathered within its massive walls and massacred them all.

Other historical places also are shown in "The Warrens of Virginia," which, with its powerful plot makes it doubly interesting. This picture will be shown at the Capitol Theatre for two days, commencing tonight.

People's Forum

Editor Tribune, Bismarck, N. D.

On behalf of myself, and others at and near Menoken, I wish to thank the Railroad Commissioners for their action in having erected at Menoken a loading platform. This platform is of great convenience and will be highly appreciated by those shipping freight on the Northern Pacific Railway Company, and we all believe that the Northern Pacific will not regret the establishment of this platform.

Respectfully,

FUR COAT SEASON IS BEFORE US

LUXURIOUS WRAPS WHICH HAVE BEEN CREATED FOR MILADY TO WEAR THIS WINTER.

BY MARIAN HALE
NEA Service Writer

New York, Oct. 20.—The fur coat season is before us.

The annual temptation to take the money out of the savings account or to mortgage the old home for all it will bring and invest in ermines, sables and seals must soon be yielded to or conquered.

To the strong, these photographs will mean little, but to the weak they show conclusively how much easier it is to be irresistible in fur than in fabric.

Wraps this season are very luxurious indeed, because gowns are so simple. And furs are now so skillfully handled that they are as soft as satin and may be draped as easily.

into the thousands in value. It is lined with silver cloth.

Moleskin, of greater interest this season than for several years, makes the other full length garment that gives the effect of being arranged in folds. A huge scarf collar knotted about the throat and falls down the back giving the effect of a cape. It could be worn for evening as well as for street.

The short coat of this season may be strictly tailored or on very straight, box lines, or it may have certain concessions to femininity as the models shown.

The very short one, suitable only for the mildest winter, is of chinchilla dyed squirrel with wide flowing sleeves and a surprise fastening. The moleskin model would see one nicely through the coldest days as it may be wrapped closely about the neck. The pockets finished with long tassels of gray silk, relieve the straight line in front and give a touch of individuality to the garment.

YOUTH DIES IN HOSPITAL

Vincent H. Warfield, aged 18 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. The father, mother and one brother survive. Funeral services will be at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the farm residence.

N. D. PIONEER DIES

SCHOOL CHANGE MADE TODAY

A new school arrangement was made effective in Bismarck today, when the order of the board of education concentrating the Junior High School in the Will school was carried out. Approximately 325 pupils were enrolled in the Junior High at the Will school, the Junior High being transferred from the William Moore school and the seventh and eighth grades, embraced in the Junior High, being discontinued at the Richholt school.

Miss Marie Huber, who was principal of the Junior High at the William Moore school, was transferred to the Will school, and teachers in the Junior High are Gertrude Evans, Margaret Dineen, Florence Jones, Sylvia Haberman, Grace Matchie.

The first and second grades were retained at the Will school. There were two first grades in the Will school. A change was made so that one first grade is retained there, and two first grades were created at the Richholt school, where the first grade was crowded. Teachers in the first, second and third grades, Will school, are Lavina Register, Esther Maxwell and Sara Andrew.

Mrs. Ella Casselman, who was principal at the Will school for many years, exchanged places with Miss Huber, going to the William Moore school as principal. Miss Agnes Boyle, who was principal and teacher of the eighth grade in the Richholt school, remains there as principal and teacher of the sixth grade. Miss Grace Hand was assigned as teacher of the extra first grade at the Richholt school.

Transferred from the Will school to the North Ward school were Eva Haberman, Jennie Gilliland and Anne Rodewald.

LIONS MEET DISTRICT HEAD

Arthur E. Low Speaks at Noonday Luncheon

The Bismarck Lions Club met today with a large attendance. Lion Arthur E. Low, District Governor of St. Paul, Minnesota, was present and spoke on the "Progress of Lionsism" in his District. He said that there were many new Lions Clubs being instituted throughout the District and of these three or four were going to be instituted in North Dakota this fall.

The club met for the first time in its new quarters for its noonday luncheon. Lion Fred Peterson introduced the Lions to their new private quarters at the Grand Pacific Hotel.

A membership drive was inaugurated at this meeting to bring the membership up to forty, which has been set as the limit. The private luncheon room afforded the Lions more latitude, and individual expression of good fellowship.

SLOPE BANKERS ARE CHARGED

Bowman, N. D., Oct. 20.—Warrants have been issued for the arrest of H. W. Clarkson, F. M. Clarkson and Herman Meyer, president, vice-president and assistant cashier, respectively, of the defunct State bank of Bowman; and Oscar M. Young, cashier of the closed Farmers and Mechanics bank of Bowman, which closed two years ago.

The bankers are charged with accepting deposits in banks while knowing them to be insolvent.

The warrants were issued upon complaint of State's Attorney Mark H. Amundson, after an investigation. The county has brought suits to recover from the state bonding fund, which bonded the county treasurer, to receive amounts on deposit.

MR. LAFOLLETTE AND POLITICS
Senator LaFollette has many friends in North Dakota. He has proved this in the vote he has received on several occasions. He has the advantage of being regarded as a Northwest man, in comparison to his opponents for the Presidency. There is an illusion in the minds of some that he is the only champion of the downtrodden agriculturist.

In the present campaign Senator LaFollette is a candidate for the highest office in the land. He is an independent candidate, without a definite or responsible party behind him. He has a platform but it is inconceivable that he could obtain support in Congress to put it in effect, if he succeeded in capturing the presidency. Without a Congress to back him, nothing but demoralization could come from his elevation to the office of chief executive.

Senator LaFollette is an astute politician. He does not deny that he observes the political rules. He was quoted by Congressman James H. Sinclair here recently as attributing his success to the fact that he never forgot the machinery of politics. And there is good reason for believing that the Senator has played politics in marked degree in order to win the support of voters in this campaign.

Senator LaFollette announced he was for government ownership. This has not proved popular. It especially has not proved popular with real estate owners, the largest class being farmers, because almost confiscatory taxes would result. The record made by railroads in private hands as compared to government operation has not helped his argument. The nation has the strictest kind of regulation of railroads. That is what the average man wants, not government ownership. Senator LaFollette now is "hedging" on this issue, and stating that if elected he would "study the question thoroughly." It is a question he claims to have studied carefully for 25 years.

The LaFollette plan to demoralize our system of government—the check and balance as between legislative, judicial and executive—by virtually degrading the supreme court of its powers, has not proved popular. The Senator has "hedged" on this issue, and answered with a platitude, in his Minneapolis speech, to the effect that he favors the sovereignty of all the people.

The manner in which Senator LaFollette has changed his mind on specific issues, to win political support, does not augur well for the selection of a President. The nation needs a president who will steer what he believes is a straight course, regardless of consequences. The little man from New England appears to have done this. President Coolidge has vetoed measures that injured him politically, cost him votes. He vetoed them because he believed he was right, and doubtless has won the respect even of his opponents.

President Coolidge has laid down a clear program of efficiency, honesty and economy in the government. Such a government is the need and desire of the nation at all times. He offers every opportunity for individual success, with the proper protection afforded by the government.

There is nothing for the Northwest to gain by voting for Senator LaFollette. There is something to gain by voting for President Coolidge. His administration thus far argues well for his support. He stands ready to put the force of the government into operation to help all its people. He promises an orderly government, strictly American. Such a government makes for contentment and prosperity.

"WHAT'S YOUR HURRY?"

Automobile and other street accidents have become so numerous in many cities that campaigns have been commenced to teach the public, pedestrians as well as drivers of vehicles, the wisdom of exercising care on the public streets.

Investigations of accidents on the streets have developed that a large per cent of them is avoidable; that they are the result of carelessness on the part of the driver of the vehicle or the pedestrian who is the worst sufferer when a collision occurs.

Men and women rush across the streets or between street cars and vehicles, apparently without any thought of the dangers they face in doing so. Many persons can be seen leaving a street car at the rear door and crossing the street behind the car, thereby running the risk of being struck by a car passing on the "blind" side.

Automobile drivers are not blameless in the matter. Many of them take chances in rushing across a street ahead of a street car or another automobile, all for the evident purpose of saving a few seconds, as if the saving of time justified running the risk of being struck.

Even without the aid of a traffic officer at the street crossing, travel would adjust itself if every person exercised good judgment in crossing. "Go with the traffic" is advice which may be followed with safety under almost every condition.

Every person, driver or pedestrian, who uses the streets has it in his power to aid in making the streets safe for all.

RESISTING T. B.

No use getting scared because tuberculosis of the lungs has killed possibly 50 million people in the last 43 years. Skilled medical specialists will tell you, autopsies show that four out of every five have T. B. at some time or other in life, usually in very mild form. They are attacked—but conquer the invader or hold it in check.

The danger isn't so much in germs as in the body's power of resistance being broken down so it cannot fight germs. Fright and too much worry about self are often as deadly as germs and low bodily resistance combined.

The outlook for the success of any business depends entirely on the intake.

Every night and in every way the nights are growing longer.

THE PROBLEM IS NOT SOLVED

(St. Paul Pioneer-Press)

Former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, came as near as any man of putting the situation of agriculture today in a few words, when he addressed the Inland Press association at Chicago yesterday. "Good crops this fall," he told the newspaper men, "have not solved what the politicians call the farm problem."

This is undeniably true. Good crops and good prices have, for the one year, given relief and afforded an avenue of escape from complete bankruptcy. But there is no guarantee that in 1925 there will be good crops, good prices or an almost world wide shortage of grain in countries other than the United States. It is right, therefore, that we shall not be lulled into a false security, when by the very nature of things it cannot be so.

The year 1924 gives us a breathing spell and a time in which to set our house in order. President Coolidge recognizes this by his announcement of appointing an agricultural commission which shall report to him and to Congress the steps necessary to prevent a recurrence of the depression from which we are just emerging.

Co-operative marketing is the specific offered by Mr. Lowden. "The farmers' marketing method," says he, "are a century behind," and they are in comparison with the marketing methods of every other industry. Yet it is obvious that the farmer is unable both by his individualistic attitude, his isolation and his financial status to make the jump of one hundred years within a year. He can not lift himself by his own bootstraps. He must have governmental encouragement and aid until the time comes when he can walk alone and undertake the management, operation and control of the co-operative marketing. Mr. Lowden indicates.

The history of co-operative enterprise in the United States, so far, shows that it takes something more than willingness, earnestness and sincerity to make them successful. Business capacity and capability is not born over night nor is co-operation self-executing. The real problem to be solved is bound up in the task of getting that supervision and aid which will make co-operative marketing work, which will set the engine in motion and supply it with the fuel to keep it going until its new owner, the farmer, can operate it himself.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

The Twins woke up one morning to find a little note pinned to their pillow.

It said:

"Dear Children:

"What do you think! Someone stole the House That Jack Built. Picked it right up where it stood on Pippin Hill and walked off with it."

"No one has seen it since the night of Jack and Jill's party when Mrs. John, Jack's mother, lost her cipher and pie in the dumb-waiter."

"Next morning when Jack and Jill had gone down the hill, and Mrs. John had gone to market, someone took it. When they came back the house was as gone as yesterday."

"Will you go and help them to hunt for it? Ever since you found the lost gleezy and at the bottom of the sea, people think you are too smart for anything. I haven't time to go because I'm busy showing my ground fairies how to stack up moss and dirt around plants so that Jack Frost cannot hurt them this winter."

"Do go and help Jack if you can, because if he doesn't find his house before winter, I don't know what he and his mother and sister will do."

"The magic shoes are under your bed. Put them on and you will find yourselves on Pippin Hill at once."

Lovingly yours,

"The Fairy Queen."

"Jimenez!" cried Nick. "I should say we would go!"

And he sprang out of bed and into his clothes and slipped on the magic shoes.

And Nancy sprang out of her little bed and did the same thing. I mean she put on her clothes and her shoes! Not Nick's.

And as truly as I tell you, didn't they find themselves right on the top of Pippin Hill where all the apple-trees grew.

But alas and alack!

Where Jack's fine new house had stood only the day before, nothing was left but the cellar!

There were Mrs. John's washing tubs and her butter-crocks and her preserves, and her step-ladder, and her clothes-prop, which she had brought in in case of rain, and her cider-barrel, and her winter-apples, and her sack of potatoes in everything.

Everything to keep house with but no house to keep!

It was a dreadful state of affairs! There was Jack and there was Jill and there was Mrs. John looking as though the world had come to a sudden end.

"What do you suppose could have happened?" said Nancy.

Jack and Jill and Mrs. John looked ever so surprised to see the Twins. When you go any place by magic it is natural that you should make no noise at all.

No nobody had noticed them until Nancy spoke.

"We haven't the least idea," said Mrs. John. "Not the least. All I know is that one minute we had a house and the next minute we didn't. That's all."

"Maybe the wind blew it away," said Nick.

There's Only One Way to Deal With This Gentleman

"Maybe it did," said Jack.

"Maybe someone needed a house and stole it," said Nancy.

"Maybe," said Jill.

"Oh, dear me! Maybe won't bring our house back," sighed Mrs. John.

"I really don't know what we are going to do about it."

"Don't worry," said a kind voice close by. And there stood fat, kind Mrs. Spratt, the fattest person in all Daddy Gander Land. "Come right over to my house and have breakfast, all of you. Jack and I have pancakes and bacon every morning. He eats the pancakes and I eat the bacon. We can talk it over at the breakfast table."

Please let me say, dear Leslie, how sorry I am that such a good man as your father should be taken away while others who would be gladly missed are left behind. I never received anything but kindness and consideration from Mr. Hamilton while I worked for him. I shall always venerate his memory. If you think I would not be intruding on your mother's great grief, will you tell her that my heart is filled with sorrow. Good men are too greatly needed in this world for us to let any one of them go without expressions of grief at the passing. Expect to see you soon as Mr. Prescott has written me of his intended change in business. With sympathy and affection

SALLY.

Telegram from Ruth Burke to Leslie Prescott

Words seem futile to express my grief at your great loss but surely the fact that the world is better because your father has lived in it will help to comfort you. Do you wish me to come over? Walter and I will do anything at any time if you will call upon us. We can start immediately if you wish. Give to Mrs. Hamilton for me my sincerest sympathy and be sure to let me know if I can help any of your great affliction. I sorrow with you. Lovingly,

RUTH.

ARE YOU AN EXPERT?

By Albert Apple

Some one has defined an expert as a man who lives 100 miles away and charges $100 a day for his services. Experts, however, have their place and are necessary. An interesting development is this: In many fields, the INDIVIDUAL EXPERT is being displaced by an EXPERT METHOD that can be applied by average common sense.

For instance, it is an expert's task to determine the "mental age" of children, and particularly children not sufficiently subnormal to be placed in institutions but too far below average intelligence to keep pace with an ordinary school class, accordingly needing special classes.

Experts have charge of such work. Usually they go around from one community to another, in "caravan clinics."

One of the leading authorities in this work is Dr. Samuel B. Sinclair. In a recent speech he announced: "An ordinary teacher, with a few hours' instruction regarding methods of observation and inquiry, and without giving a formal intelligence test, can estimate a subnormal child's mental age within a few per cent of the Stanford-Binet Estimate. Her findings for a subnormal class are superior to those of a group test, and for this purpose caravan clinics are unnecessary."

Dr. Sinclair came to this conclusion after teachers had estimated children's mental age in 400 cases and demonstrated that the teachers reached almost exactly the same results or ratings as obtained by experts.

It illustrates how the individual expert tends to be displaced by the expert method that can be applied by almost any one with good sense.

Increasingly it is the function of experts to create expert methods and in such a way that they can be applied or used by others than specialists.

Another illustration is radio, extremely complicated. Yet a lad can build his own radio, though he couldn't repair that far simpler mechanism, a watch. The reason is that experts, instead of keeping their secrets to themselves and building all radios under their own supervision, have created and released expert systems or hook-ups—easily put into effect by any one with fair intelligence.

The ability to "carry out" complicated instructions is amazingly widespread. It speaks highly for the educational system that has made it possible by brain training.

New York, Oct. 20.—Old Man Gannon never finished his job. There wasn't time enough. So few of us find time to do the big things we want to do.

Unless someone claims his body before these lines reach print, Old Man Gannon will be buried in Potter's Field.

For 20 years he lived in the same room over in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn. He always paid his rent, although he never worked and seemed to have no source of income.

Day in and day out he sat and read of Caesar, Alexander, Napoleon and other heroes of the centuries.

When they found him dead, they found these histories with dog-eared pages and marked passages. They found pen and paper, but the paper was blank.

Old Man Gannon had a story to tell, but it was left untold. He had intended to write a history some day, but that day never came.

Perhaps there is no importance in being earnest, after all.

Old Man Gannon was earnest. He wouldn't do the job unless he could do it well.

Maybe the job wasn't as big as he thought it was. We all so often magnify our ideals that they seem unreal, out of reach.

And if he had done the best he could, his body might not now be unclaimed.

Superstitious New York: There is no floor in the Times Building numbered 13. In the very heart of New York, hard-headed men still cling to sentiment and superstition.

MORE FOOT EXERCISE

There are any number of good exercises for the feet, as Mr. Jones learned from his physical instructor.

In addition to those that previously had been given here were a few more to try in the morning directly after rising:

Sit on the edge of the bed with legs crossed. Let foot hang loosely and then begin making circles with the foot. Do this first with right and then with left foot.

Foot gripping is another good exercise, particularly for the toes. Sit on the bed with feet paralleling. Stretch out toes and then pull them in, as though they were clutching at something.

Rising to feet, start walking about the room, gripping at the floor with each step. Be careful not to grip with the foot upon which the weight of the body rests.

If these exercises are kept up, along with other setting-up exercises, strengthened foot muscles will result within a short time.

HELBLING-THOEMKE

Miss Rose Helbling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Helbling, and Arnold Thoenke of this city, were married Saturday afternoon at the home 408 1st Ave. N. W. by Father Clement of St. Joseph's church. They were attended by Agnes Helbling and F. J. Witz. They will make their home in Mandan.

K. OF P. TO MEET

Nine lodges of the Knights of Pythias of this district will contribute five candidates each for a great election to be initiated in Mandan on about November 20 when the bible originally used in the founding of the order by Chief Justice Rathbone in Washington, D. C., in 1823, will form a prominent part in the ritualistic work. This announcement was made today by A. W. Patterson, Grand Forks, N. D., grand chancellor of the Pythian domain of North Dakota, who declared four similar meetings are to be held late in November in this state at Mandan, Minot, Grand Forks and Fargo.

DICKINSON CHOSEN

Following strenuous pleas on the part of representatives from Bismarck and Dickinson, each of which sought the honor of entertaining the southwestern district, North Dakota Education association annual convention in 1925, Dickinson was declared victor on the final ballot by the close margin of 9 votes with more than 450 votes being cast. The annual convention then adjourned after three days crammed with busy sessions.

RIX-KOPP

Miss Cecelia Rix, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rix was united in marriage at St. Joseph Catholic church at 7 o'clock Saturday morning to Adolph Kopp, young farmer of the Sweet Briar district. Members of the congregation present at the early mass served as attendants. They will make their home at the Kopp farm near Sweet Briar.

SPOOKS

(Florence Boerner)

When I was just a little kid my mother used to say, "That if I was not awful good and minded her, each day, a big, black spook would catch me when I went upstairs to bed, and never bring me back again until I was plumb dead."

She told me awful stories of the things the spook would do. He'd claw and bite and scratch me and he'd eat me black and blue; and goodness gracious, I was scared, I'd lie in bed awake, and way upstairs all by myself, I'd shake, and shake and shake.

And, even since I'm grown up, when the wind begins to shriek, and sets the windows rattling with an intermittent squeak, Altho I'm not exactly scared, if truthful words be said, I feel a wee bit safer when I've covered up my head.

FINE FOOTBALL IS PLAYED IN BIG CONTESTS

Performance of "Red" Grange Stands Out as One of Greatest of All Times

OTHER BIG GAMES

Chicago, Oct. 20.—The big games of the 1924 football season got fairly under way Saturday. Thrilling contests with a few surprises resulted. Huge crowds attended games, probably the largest crowd in the country being the 70,000 that jammed the new University of Illinois stadium.

The outstanding performance in football, east or west, was the victory of Illinois over Michigan by a 38 to 14 score. The two teams finished the Big Ten season last year unbeaten. Harold "Red" Grange, the versatile Illinois halfback, gave one of the greatest individual performances in the history of football. The fleet half back took the first kick-off and ran 90 yards for a touchdown. In the first quarter he made three more touchdowns, running 65, 55 and 45 yards respectively for the scores. Coach Zuppke then took him out. He returned to the game later to have several successful passes and scores a fifth touchdown in the last half. He ran with the ball 21 times and netted 562 yards. Michigan scored touchdowns in the second and final periods.

An innovation in football was the wearing of socks by Illinois players, exposing bare shins.

In other Big Ten games Minnesota and Wisconsin battled to a 7 to 7 tie, with Minnesota leading the advantage but unable to push the ball over for the winning marker from the one-yard line. Graham, Minnesota quarterback, nursing an injury, was not at his best.

Chicago had an easy time beating Indiana, 25 to 0. Iowa beat Lawrence College, 13 to 5. Purdue upset the dope buck by defeating Northwestern, 7 to 3. Ohio State beat Ohio Wesleyan 10 to 0.

In the east, the Yale-Dartmouth, Army-Notre Dame, Colgate-Nebraska and Princeton-Navy games furnished the big interest. Yale fought Dartmouth to a 14 to 14 tie, staving off defeat by stubbornly defending her goal from Dartmouth's attacks toward the last. Notre Dame played a flashy brand of football to beat the heavier Army team, 13 to 7. The aerial offense of Notre Dame dazzled the Cadets. Nebraska proved her claim to a fine team by beating Colgate, 33 to 7, at Lincoln. A young Princeton substitute, Sammy Ewing, booted a field goal that gave the Tigers a sensational 17 to 14 victory over the Navy.

B. H. S. MEETS MANDAN AGAIN

Teams Will Play Here Again Tuesday Afternoon

Bismarck High School's football team will meet Mandan High here again Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in local ball park. With a 6 to 0 victory over Mandan Saturday Bismarck is out to win again and then to beat Dickinson to win the southwestern district title. The local team won't be in the best shape for the game, but the team is showing lots of fight and hopes to win again. Grafton defeated Grand Forks

High School, 10 to 7, in a game important in the northeastern title conflicts Saturday.

Fargo High, for the first time in years, will not enter the semi-finals for state football honors. The Midgets were put out of the running by Wahpeton High School, which defeated the Fargo team 12 to 0. Wahpeton will contest with Valley City for district honors.

Minot defeated Kenmare, 59 to 3. Devils Lake High rolled up the best score of the season, defeating Larimore, 118 to 0.

Billy Evans Says

Baseball fans will always regret the fact that Brooklyn failed to win the National League pennant of 1924.

Victory by Brooklyn would have offered the greatest pitching attraction in the history of the series. Walter Johnson versus Dazzy Vance would undoubtedly have been the pitching selections for the opening game.

What a treat that would have been. The veteran speed-ball king of the American League pitted against the National League ace.

In some quarters the question has been raised as to whether it would have been good judgment to send Vance against Johnson had Brooklyn and Washington been the winners.

Perhaps not—but the desire to win the all-important first game would have found head managers depending on their one best bet.

Very often the world series games are grab because both teams insist on playing safety-first ball. In a short series it usually isn't wise to take chances. Get a run is the system generally adopted. Johnson versus Vance, however, would have been real dessert.

It is a rare occurrence to have two outstanding stars of the Johnson-Vance type in a big series, pitchers who have gained success through the same medium, a quizzical fast ball. For that reason Brooklyn fans in particular, baseball fans in general, will regret the fact that Brooklyn just fell short of landing the National League pennant.

Vance, enjoying the greatest year of his career, has more or less monopolized the pitching feats of the year in the National League. The records are studded with pitching gems by "Dazzy."

Vance's best strikeout performance was 15. He also whiffed 14. In both cases the Chicago Cubs were the victims.

Four times he set 11 men down on strikes, once he got 10, while on seven occasions he had nine of the opposition take three healthy swings and return to the bench.

In the American League Johnson, with 14 strikeouts, was the leader. Johnson no longer goes in for the strikeout stuff, so his record in no way compares with that of Vance.

Who would have been returned the victor had Johnson and Vance met? Really it would be an unkind act to even offer an opinion. That question will go down in baseball as one of the unsolved mysteries of the game.

During his football career at Michigan, Ernie Vick, who was an All-America selection for center, was known as the iron man of the gridiron.

One of the most active players on the field, in every scrimmage, making as many tackles as his ends, Vick never suffered injury. The story is that time was never once taken out for him, that he never lost a minute of play. Vick seemed immune from injury.

Vick starred in baseball as well as football. Graduating from Michigan, he entered professional baseball and has done quite well.

No one for a minute considers baseball nearly so rough and dangerous as football, yet Vick has often been injured on the diamond.

Near the close of the past season he suffered a broken jaw as the result of a pitched ball. Yet the same jaw stood up under many a gridiron grueling.

Local Boy Is One of A. C.'s Grid Mainstays

PHIL BOISE

Two Bismarck young men are reporting to the daily scrimmage of the Bison football team of the North Dakota Agricultural college. One of these, Philip Boise, is a regular on the team, this being his fourth year. He plays left end but in addition to the usual duties of a wing job he does the punting for the team and during his career gained several yards for the Bison team by means of long punts. He has played in every game so far this year and seems to have definitely earned a regular place on the first team.

Boise is also prominent in other activities of the college, being the president of the student commission which regulates student affairs. He was business manager of the 1925 Bison, the college annual, and is one of the officers of his fraternity. He is cadet officer in the R. O. T. C. unit. At the college his unit won the gold star last year for the second consecutive time.

The other Bismarck boy on the football squad is George Holta. Holta is a senior and has never before tried out for a position on the team but has developed fast this year and will be given a chance to show his ability in one of the season's games. Injuries to an ankle are all that have kept him from seeing action earlier in the year. Holta plays tackle.

Both Boise and Holta are lieutenants in the cadet battalion and are on the approved list for promotion to captains.

VEACH FAILS TO DELIVER

The failure of Bobby Veach to deliver for the Boston Red Sox may mean in the American League. In outfielder to the midgets. Veach cost the Red Sox a sum close to $25,000 and wasn't a profitable investment.

VALUABLE UTILITY PLAYER

Jimmy Dykes of the Philadelphia Athletics, capable of playing any position in the infield or outfield, is perhaps the most valuable utility man the passing of the outfielder evidently he is in the .300 class as a batsman.

WELCH ON THE MARKET

Rumor has it that Connie Mack has already placed Outfielder Frank Welch on the trade market. Welch has the ability but lacks the disposition to make the most of it.

COONEY COMES FAST

Looks as if the Boston Braves had picked up a prize package in Pitcher Cooney. Not only is he a very capable pitcher, but he plays the outfield well and can tackle the old apple a la Rogers Hornsby.

EXPERTS OVERLOOK BASSLER

In picking All-America teams, the experts have overlooked Johnny Bassler of Detroit. He is a fine receiver and the hardest hitting catcher in the American League. His mark is close to .350.

MEUSEL HAS BEST ARM

Bob Meusel of the New York Yankees has the strongest and most accurate throwing arm in the majors. He literally throws strikes on every ball from the outfield.

WILLIAMS LOOKS GOOD

Manager Lee Fohl of the Boston Red Sox is hopeful that in Danny

Williams he has picked up an outfielder who will win a regular job next season. Williams was secured from Mobile and went big the last month in the American League.

HEAVY BAT NO HELP

Outfielder Ken Williams of the St. Louis Browns used a much heavier bat than usual the past season with a hope of increasing his home run total but failed to get results.

HORNSBY SETS NEW RECORD
Rogers Hornsby, in batting well over 400 for 1924, again leads the National League and set a new record of topping that organization for five successive years. He is the most consistent batsman in the majors.

MOORE HELPS PIRATES

Moore, who was used in the outfield during the fag end of the season because of his hitting, came to the Pittsburgh club as an infielder. Earlier in the campaign he did great work in place of Traynor at third.

SEEK TO FIND SPANISH WOMAN

Efforts are being made by the Spanish foreign office to locate Mrs. Martina Saez Rueda, widow of Valentin Lopez, who in the year 1922 was living with her daughter and son-in-law, George Van Dickinson, somewhere in North Dakota, says a letter from Juan A. Meana, Spanish Vice Consul, Chicago, Illinois, to Governor Nestos. State authorities have been unable to locate her.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—With weather conditions favorable for the crop movement in Canada, wheat, under a decided setback today during the early dealings. A decline in Liverpool quotations tended also to weaken values here. On the decline, though, houses with export connections became good buyers of December. Subsequently sharp additional breaks in price took place, numerous holdings being disclosed as a result of standing orders to sell out and stop losses at various definite limits. The close was heavy, 2 1/2 to 4 3/4 cents net lower, December $1.15 1/2 to 5/8 and May $1.19 1/8 to 1-1/4.

EXPORT BUYING HELD CAUSE OF RISE IN GRAIN

Brisk Buying During Past Week Carried Market to New High Levels

MILL DEMAND FAIR

U. S. Flour Mills Well Filled
Up With Wheat—Weather
Hurts Corn Price

Washington, Oct. 20.—Renewed export buying of both wheat and rye advanced prices to new high levels during the week ending Oct. 18th, according to the weekly market review of the United States Department of Agriculture. Continued favorable weather for maturing the corn crop and lower prices for hogs and cattle had a weakening effect on the corn market, and prices declined 1 to 50 per bushel. Oats were also lower but the market was relatively firmer than for corn.

While the export sales of wheat became very heavy again during the week the buying was shifted more to the hard winter wheats for gulf shipment. Premiums for deferred shipment were materially higher, 14c over the Dec. price f. o. d. vessel at the Gulf being offered for wheat for March shipment. 13c over Chicago Dec. was offered for February shipment and 12c over for January, while bids for November wheat for December shipment were 10 to 10 1/2c over. Practically all hard winter wheat offered with favorable billing to Gulf ports was being shipped direct for export and only the high protein milling grades were moving to Kansas City and other distributing markets.

Milling Demand Fair
The milling demand was of only fair volume as most mills are well stocked with wheat, and the flour demand continues sluggish. The heavy movement of spring wheat has practically eliminated the demand from the spring wheat mill for hard winter wheat. The export demand in the spring wheat markets was less active than in the winter wheat markets, due partially to the undesirable quality of a large percentage of the spring receipts. The arrivals of spring wheat at both Minneapolis and Winnipeg show the effect of damp harvest, and more than one-third of the Canadian receipts were reported to be grading No. 3 or lower. Good dry wheat was in excellent demand from both mills and shippers at Minneapolis, and premiums held around 20 to 22c over the Dec. for the best quality of No. 1 dark northern spring wheat.

Red winter wheat prices continued very firm and at a premium of about 10c per bushel over the hard winter wheat. New high prices for the crop year were reached at Minneapolis and other winter wheat markets. Export buying, particularly by Norway and Germany, was renewed for rye, and prices advanced 6 to 7c during the week. European requirements are much larger than last year because of much smaller production in the principal producing countries, and this is causing an urgent export demand for all offerings of rye from this country. Exports to date are larger than total exports for last year.

Corn Weakens
Continued favorable weather for the maturing of the crop, together with the approach of the new crop movement, had a decidedly weakening influence on the corn market. Lower cattle and hog prices were also a weakening factor and prices declined 4 to 5c. New corn is being marketed in increasing quantities in Texas and Oklahoma. Fort Worth receipts of Oklahoma corn are reported being sold to exporters for shipment to Europe. The first cars of new corn were received at Kansas City and Indianapolis during the week, but no movement of volume is expected for about 30 days. The movement of old corn continues of good volume, and stocks in the principal markets continue to increase, totaling now close to 88,000,000 bushels compared with only about 1,000,000 bushels at the corresponding time last year. The cash demand is only of fair volume as feeders are substituting oats and other cheaper grains.

The barley market continued firm, and there was an excellent demand for the good malting grades. Dec. barley at Minneapolis advanced 1 3/8 cents and closed on Friday at 89 7/8 cents. Cash barley at Minneapolis was quoted at from 76 to 91 cents, and No. 3 barley at Milwaukee at 91 to 98 cents. Export sales of about 150,000 bu. were also reported for the week.

Flax Upward
The flax market continued its upward trend as receipts continued light. There was no material increase in receipts at Minneapolis and Duluth, and the Canadian movement has been very slow in getting under way. Eastern exporters were active buyers of flaxseed on the Northwestern markets in an effort to obtain their supply before the close of Lake navigation. No. 1 seed at Minneapolis sold at 2 to 6 cents over the December future price, which advanced 6 cents during the week and closed on Friday at $2.46.

15,000,000 Ballots Sent By Mail As Literary Digest Takes National Vote

"WHO will be the next president?" is the question every politician, political writer, and dolester is trying to answer, and The Literary Digest is spending a king's ransom in the war's greatest journalistic feat to solve this pre-election riddle by a nation-wide vote.

The Digest is asking 15,000,000 people in every section of the country to signify their choice of the eight presidential candidates in advance of the regular election. This gigantic list is more than half the number of all the people who voted for president in 1920 and more than twice the number who paid income taxes last year.

The list itself is a wonder. It is an accumulation which they have been compiling for over thirty years and has been revised for changes every two months during the extensive period. It is reputed to contain names of persons engaged in every conceivable occupation, from workers in every branch of industry, both union and non-union, to artists and professional men and women of all grades. Every village and town in the country is said to have a representative in the list.

To accomplish this herculean task, in the brief time between the national conventions and the regular election, fifteen hundred addressers were engaged, for every ballot is mailed in an envelope, personally addressed with name and return postage prepaid, and is delivered through the U. S. Post Office to the voter addressed. The addresses average over one million envelopes a day.

Next the envelopes are sent to the mailing rooms. There a hundred stacks of ballots reach the ceiling. A steady stream of trucks constantly arrives with envelopes and instructions. And twenty automatic stamping machines clatter incessantly. These are Uncle Sam's cash registers. Every hour of the day they ring up over two million pennies.

Above all the noise there is the humming babel of over five hundred young women who are assembling the 45,000,000 pieces of printed matter—15,000,000 ballots and 15,000,000 instructions which are inserted into the 15,000,000 addressed envelopes. These young women do their work with lightning speed as over 1,000,000 individual ballots go through the government cancelling machines every eight hours.

To handle this huge amount of mail a postal sub-station is established in the mailing room, and thirty-five official government clerks sort the letters and send them directly to the trains. Fifty tellers are employed to count and tally the incoming votes, and though the poll of The Digest is unofficial, it has been surrounded with official safeguards. The ballots are printed on a special cardboard which has a colored base. There are only four presses in the country capable of doing this particular work and every pound of paper thus prepared is accounted for while The Digest poll is in progress.

The votes are sorted and tallied by a system of the probable vote in the Electoral College. Besides the 1924 choice each voter has been asked to designate which party he voted for in 1920. These figures show the shifting of the vote among the several parties in each state and are said to make possible the most comprehensive analysis ever attempted officially or unofficially.

The final returns of The Digest's poll will be announced on October 31st and will be substantiated the following Tuesday.

Stubbins, Bismarck; Leif Nelson, Bismarck; F. J. Bloth, Mandan; Floyd Fowler, Bismarck; J. E. Chasak, Bismarck; Christ Olson, Bismarck.

The speedometer registered 97.7 miles. There were many entrants in the contest. The closest guess was 88.2 miles.

MURDERER IS GIVEN PAROLE
Allowed to Return to Home to See New-Born Babies

Mesquite, Texas, Oct. 20. Robert Hill, 21, under long term sentence to state prison for murder last May, was expected to leave the penitentiary at Huntsville, under parole, and unguarded, returned to his wife and three children, one of the latter dead, near here today. The parole was granted by telephone last night by Lieut. Gov. Davidson, acting as executive governor during the absence of Governor Neff from the state.

Triplets were born to Mrs. Hall Saturday. One died last night. The other two infants and the mother were reported as "doing fine" but Mrs. Hall is penniless and the doctor said there was a big problem to face at the Hall home.

Judge J. F. McCullough, who also is mayor of his town, telephoned to Mr. Davidson at his home in Marshall, telling him of the family's plight. District Attorney Shelby Cox of Dallas and Charles A. Posch, president of the First National Bank of Mesquite, joined in the plea, was convicted of killing Winfield Knox, 17, on the night of Dec.

TEXAS COURT REMOVES LAST BAR TO WOMEN

Quality of Sex in Holding Offices Is Seen in Supreme Court Decision

LENGTHY OPINION

Court Discusses Various Angles of Case—Victory For Women Is Seen

Austin, Texas, Oct. 20.—The last vestige of the ancient bar against women in office was swept away by the Texas Supreme court in holding Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson of Temple, and all other women in the state, eligible to elective positions. While holding that Mrs. Ferguson is qualified to vote, the court also held unconstitutional that part of the statute which seeks to confer on a private citizen the right to bring suit testing the qualifications of a candidate for governor. This right belongs to the Legislature, the court said.

The plaintiff, Charles M. Dickson of San Antonio, has 15 days in which to file a motion for rehearing and it was stated the case will not be sent back to the court of civil appeals for issuance of the decree until expiration of that time. It would then be too late for any action, as all ballots would have been printed.

Calls Suit Unconstitutional
In a 33-page opinion, written by Associate Justice Thomas H. Greenwood and concurred in by Chief Justice Cureton and Associate Justice Pierson, the court held that; Charles M. Dickson, plaintiff, had no legal authority to bring the suit, since the law under which the case was brought is clearly unconstitutional. That the Fifty-third district court, Judge George C. Calhoun, did not have jurisdiction to hear the case, thus overruling Judge Calhoun on these jurisdictional points. That Mrs. Ferguson is not disqualified, either by her sex, by her married status, or by the fact that she is the wife of James E. Ferguson, who has been declared by the state Senate to be ineligible henceforth to hold office in Texas.

Called Victory for Women
The decision is regarded as a complete and final victory, not only for Mrs. Ferguson, but for women throughout the land, as it was one of the first cases to directly test the effect of the suffrage amendments. The suffrage amendments to the federal Constitution and the state Constitution were interpreted as giving women not only the right to vote, but also the right to hold office. To hold to the contrary would be to create a rule out of accord with the customs of the time and the morals of the people, the court held.

The statute under which Dickson brought his suit is an amendment to a previous statute attempting to define those eligible to office in Texas. "Insofar as this act related to officers such as the governor, whose qualifications had been particularly and carefully and differently enumerated in the Constitution, it cannot be doubted that it was utterly void," said the opinion.

Legislature Determines Matter
The matter is for determination by the legislature, said the court, continuing:

"No one can be inducted in the office of governor without a legislative determination of his election. Not only must the legislature determine that he received the highest number of votes, but Section 3 or Article IV, of the Constitution requires a legislative adjudication of his constitutional eligibility. Should the election be contested on the ground of lack of constitutional eligibility or on any other ground, such contests may be determined only by both houses of the legislature in joint session."

In reference to the eligibility of women to hold office, the court said: "Where the competency of women to hold office in Texas is challenged the fundamental inquiry is as to the extent of restrictions on the people in their sovereign capacity with respect to freedom of choice of their public servants. No further authority need be cited to demonstrate the correctness of this position than the language which this court, through its great Justice Reuben R. Gaines, quoted with approval in Stenoff against State, as follows: "Eligibility to office is not declared as a right or principle by any express terms of the Constitution, but it results as a just deduction from the express powers and provisions of the system. The basis of the principle is the absolute liberty of the electors and the appointing authorities to choose and appoint any person who is not made ineligible by the Constitution. Eligibility to office, therefore, belongs not exclusively or specially to electors enjoying the right of suffrage. It belongs equally to all persons who are not excluded by the Constitution."

tors enjoying the right of suffrage. It belongs equally to all persons who are not excluded by the Constitution."
